The phrase resounded off of LH walls all year

Get Radical !

The year was radically different. The echoes of footsteps in the halls were sharper, the colors of clothing were brighter, and smiles were more genuine and more frequent.

The shiver of anticipation of the show - the drama of the stage, the field, and the classroom - caused an upsurge of exitement when school pride rose throughout your body, thrilling and inspiring you to try for the most, the best, the highest of all goals: to be number one.

And we were number one. All nineteen hundred and eighty-two students "Got Radical" in everything they did at Lake Highlands in 1982. The difference was obvious. It was a radical year.

The State Championship was a moment of glory

Get Radical !

"Get! GET! Radical! RADICAL!" The cheer reverberated between cheerleaders, flaghangers, and LH fans in stadiums all over Texas. Lake Highlands rode to State on the wave of emotion inspired by those fresh and original words. A sea of red and white clad fans - students, parents, teachers, brothers, sisters, junior high students, and interested community members - enthusiastically and faithfully supported the Lake Highlands football team from the first game to the State Championship.

The moment of glory. Who could ever forget the Jack Yates Marching Band and drill team, the awe-inspiring monstrosity of the Houston Astrodome, the spectacular performance of the Wildcat team, and the simultaneous tears and overwhelming happiness when the clock ran out, leaving the Wildcats undefeated. It was a radical moment.

The seniors won the hall decorating contest the week before the first playoff game, with a creative design that transformed A hall into a "Road to State"

Community support and was a prominent issue

Get Radical !

Lake Highlands and community were supportive, not only of the football team, but of anything or anyone representing their school. They were radically in favor of truth, illustrated by the prime example of principal Jimmie Fountain's trial before the Richardson Independent School District School Board. Mr. Fountain was opposed by superintendent Dr. John Roberts, and faced charges of misappropriations of school funds. Over six hundred students, teachers, and concerned individuals wore red and white to the administration building to demonstrate their support.

A radical improvement in the scholastic area also pervaded the Lake Highland's halls, as the overall grade point average of graduating seniors rose several points. Scholarships were abundant, awards were frequent, and colleges literally fell over each other to admit top LH students. It was a radical situation.

Get Radical LH Sports Did

With State and District Championships

Lake Highlands' sports: a phenomenon in itself. Is it the percentage of oxygen in the air around LH, or the outstanding quality of the water that sprays from her fountains that conditions and inspires teams of athletes second only to the Olympians? Neither. The dedication, motivation, and perseverance of each member of every athletic team, the organization and drive of their coaches and managers, and the RADICAL support of the Lake Highlands' student body molded these first class competitors. Team work and mutual respect formed bonds of unity, unbroken by mundane concerns, between players, coaches, and undying fans. Sports were important, and that were also a radical inspiration for spirit at Lake Highlands.

Pep and Spirit

All of tyhe LH Cheerleaders, from the wrestlers to the varsity, made their mark by boosting spirit

Go Red! Go White! Go Fight! echoed through the gym as the ten enthusiastic LH Varsity Cheerleaders got students to show their spirit.

Led by head cheerleader Dana Erwin and sponsor Betty Aday, the cheerleaders devoted many hours of hard work to boost school spirit. The girls worked hard to cheer through the extended football season which meant extra time and effort, but through it all, the girls managed to keep up their energy and support the school. Then, without a break, they went on into basketball season which meant cheering at sometimes as many as three games per week.

Games were not the only time cheerleaders worked. They prepared their cheers and special skits for pep rallies, performed a dance number in the Varsity Revue, and cheered while ringing the LH bell in the Richardson Christmas Parade.

During the summer, the cheerleaders attended the S.M.U.Cheerleading camp, where they kept up the LH tradition of winning the Award of Excellance, blue ribbons for performances, and the Spirit Award. THe talented group practiced to become synchronized, and it showed.

Boosting LH spirit in other areas were the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders who cheered at J.V. and B-teamgames. The group was led by head cheerleader Beth Bratten, and was sponsored by Ms. Mahoney. The girls performed in a pep rally as well as decorating lockers and making cookies. The new addition in its first full school year was the Wildcat Mascot, Tommy Spillman. Tommy enjoyed helping raise school spirit and felt it enhanced the school to have a mascot. Also, the Matmates helped by cheering on the wrestling team throughout their season.

State Champions

The championship season started early, as the Cats romped their way through an undefeated season

The 1981 football season was a dream come true for forty-one above average Lake Highlands' athletes and their ten coaches. The year began with three non-district preseason games. With a 23-0 defeat over W.T. White, the Cats were well on their way to becoming State Champions. The Tigers of Irving also proved to be no competition for the "state bound" team, as they were victorious with a score of 39-20. Cross town rival Bryan Adams was brought to its knees as the Wildcats demolished the cougars by a score of 46-0.

Although the preseason proved to be extremely successful, it seemed the LH Wildcats had met their match as they narrowly defeated the Berkner Rams 10-9. The Rams led the entire game, but the Cats came back to score a touchdown in the last two minutes of the game. The second district game was against the other wildcats from Plano. School spirit was shown not only at the rally, but also at the game. Neal Ashley stated "There has always been anticipation for the Plano game, but it seemed that teams in the past had been intimidated by the "myth." With the enthusiasm of the students, we knew that there was no way we could let them down." Outstanding players in the game were junior Aaron Grant, a defensive back, and linebacker Evan Gatewood. The final score was 16-7 and this victory made Lake Highlands only the second team in the district to defeat Plano.

Following the emotion filled game against Plano, the team suffered a mental let down, and narrowly defeated the Trojans of Newman-Smith by a score of 14-7. The next three games were reminiscent of the preseason victories, as LH tore through Homecoming guest, the Richardson Eagles, 38-0.

State Champions

The Cats made believers out of ten regular season foes before entering the state playoff picture

After the defeat over the Eagles, the Cats also crushed the R.L. Turner Lions by the same score of 38-0. Continuing their winning streak, the Cats traveled to Greenville and left with another victory.

At this point in the season, senior Alvin Rettig became known as one of the better running backs in the state. Rettig was quick to give credit to the offensive line. "The line blocked great all year and they made it possible for the yards I gained." Phillip Carnegis, Tony Liscio, Danny Burgess, Evan Gatewood, Ted Kopinski, Mark Graham, and Mack Stidom, made up the 1981 offensive line.

The Pearce Mustangs entered Wildcat-Ram Stadium for the district showdown. Although the Mustangs had depended on Mike Korbuly, the LH defense led by seniors John Abbott and Rodney Beachum held him to only 31 yards, while the offense scored enough points to win 16-6.

Riding the crest of an undefeated season, the Wildcats traveled to Texas Stadium to play the John Tyler Lions. The Cats were highly favored to win before the game, and two touchdowns in the first quarter proved this to be a valid assumption. Although the Cats were leading after the first quarter, the Lions came back during the second quarter and tied the game 14-14. With 2:46 left in the game, kicker Todd Tchantz came onto the field to attempt a 47 yard field goal. Everyone in the stadium was on their feet as the ball was snapped, the kick was high and long enough to give Lake Higlands a 17-14 victory over the Lions.

The Wildcats traveled to Waco for the second playoff game against the Temple Wildcats. Although Temple was the first team to score with a field goal, LH went on to win 7-3.

State Champions

Texas Stadium, Waco, Lubbock, and finally the Astrodome; it made no difference where we won

The following week the "State Bound" Cats were in the friendlier atmosphere of Texas Stadium to play the Grand Prairie Gophers.

The Gophers were ahead at the half by a score of 14-7, but the Cats came back and with the aid of Rettig, scored three additional touchdowns to make the score 28-14. The game seemed to be won, but with 1:04 left in the game, the Gophers took the kick off back for a 99 yard touchdown, to make the final score 28-21.

With only one game separating the Cats from the State Championship game, they traveled to Lubbock to conquer the Hereford Whitefaces.

Hereford struck quickly as they ran for a sixty-three yard touchdown from the first play of the scrimmage. The Lake Highlands Wildcats were able to offset the Whitefaces as they came back and tied the game late in the second quarter. After halftime, the Cats scored another three points as Todd Tschantz lead the "State Bound" team to a 10-7 victory and a date with Houston Yates for the State Championship crown.

In Houston, it was being said that Yates would pass right through the famed LH "Soul Patrol." The "Patrol" or Wildcat defensive secondary consisted of seniors Windell Yancy, Alvin Rettig, Thomas Jefferson, and juniors Calvin Henry and Aaron Grant. As a whole, the Wildcats knew little about the Lions. Senior Don Brown commented, "From what I saw in the films they were explosive but not very disciplined."

Windell Yancy also stated, "They were good, but I knew if we could get our running game going and keep their offense bottled up , then we could win the game."

"Congrats"

State Champions

And finally the dream became reality as 40,000 saw the Cats defeat Houston Yates for the coveted title

The place was the Astrodome, the time was 7:30 On December 19,1981, and the event was the 1981 State Football Championship. The game began with a very memorable arrangement of the National Anthem, and a noticable lack of an invocation.

The first half went by with Lake Highlands leading 6-0 which were two field goals made by Todd Tschantz. These two field goals broke the state record of seventeen by two. He later kicked two additional field goals to bring the record to nineteen.

The second half appeared as though it were going to be a carbon copy of the first, but junior Aaron Grant proved this to be false. During the fourth quarter, Grant stepped in front of a Yates pass and returned it for a 76 yard touchdown, giving LH a 19-0 lead. Though Yates scored a touchdown, it was a little too late because as the clock ran out the scoreboard read Lake Highlands:19 and Yates:6.

Though every player contributed to the team, some were chosen to post-season All-District teams. Offensive lineman chosen were seniors Phillip Carnegis, Mark Graham, Tony Liscio, Ted Kopinski, and Danny Burgess. From the backfield, Steve Hurst, Jay Allen, Greg Abbey, and Alvin Rettig were also chosen. Representing the defense was Rodney Beachum, Aaron Grant, Evan Gatewood, Thomas Jefferson, Eric Whitted, and Windell Yancy. Tschantz and Rettig were also chosen to second team All-State.

Everyone associated with the State Champions whether on the field or in the bleachers felt great to have been a part of it all, but senior John Leonard summed it up best, "The glory will eventually fade, but the memory will be there forever."

"Gotcha"
Jay Allen rushes in for a tackle, and practice pays off when a play is well-executed. The skillful play resulted in a loss of yards for the Richardson Eagles.

Glad It's Over

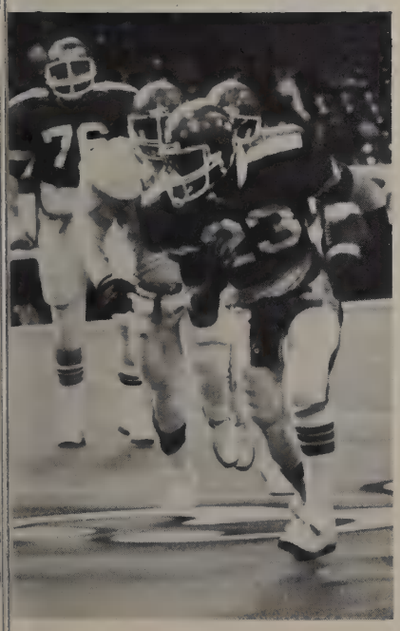
After a playoff game, Coach Johnson gathers the team for a prayer at mid-field. This is done traditionally after LH football games.

Over the Top

Hurdling some Plano defenders, Quarterback Steve Hurst leaps for a short gain. Intricate moves like this one led to the final triumph over Plano.

Take Off

Senior Wendall Yancy "takes off" with the ball at Texas Stadium. At the 30 yard line, Wendall is still on the move.



Just Out of Reach

Senior Greg Abbey just misses a pass from quarterback Steve Hurst. It looked close: better incomplete than intercepted.

Backin' Up the Best

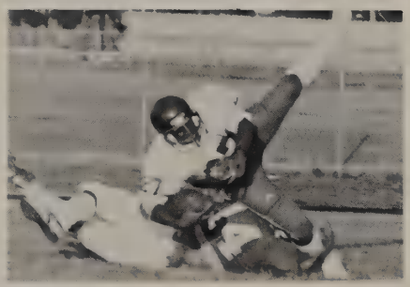
It was a hard task to be second to the State Champions, but the LH JV football team pulled off a near-championship season

The J.V. football team finished an exiting season with a record of 8-2. The LH CAts once again exceeded everyone's expectations, this time including their own.

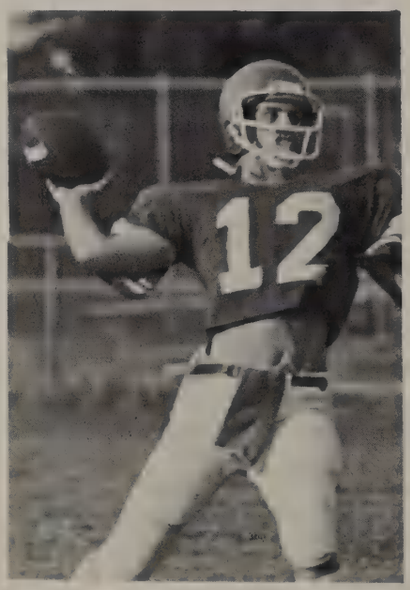
Junior Calvin Henry commented, "During the summer, when we started practicing, I thought this was going to be a blow off year, but when we got a couple of people off the B-team and started practicing with some intensity, we got better.

The team did get better, and progressed to the point that they were one of the better J.V. teams in the district. Several of the players played on Varsity during the season, such as Chris McDavid, Darryl Duffie, and Calvin Henry, who even started at defensive back occasionally. Coaches Jerry Gayden and Lemon Boyd were in charge of the team this year.

The B-team finished with a record of 6-3-1. The record however, does not show the true strength of the team, because they played the J.V. schedule, not their own. Sophomore David Hood stated, "We had a real strong team, but we were playing against teams who had been together longer, so they knew what to expect from one another, but as the season went on, we grew stronger. The team had scoring power led by quarterback Scott Livinstone, and running backs Calvin Jackson and Derrick Reed, who also played some on varsity. The defense, which was the team's strong point, played well all year. Troy Jefferson, David Hood, and Frank Tull even played on varsity during the open week in their schedules. Sammy Van Dyke, a sophomore, said, "with the potential we have on this team, there should be a lot of us starting on varsity next year."



Timber
Sophomore Calvin Jackson grasps the leg of his Kimball opponent. Calvin also played on the Varsity team in the latter part of the season.



Let 'Er Rip
B-team quarterback Scott Livingstone sets up for a long pass downfield. Scott was one of the key players on offense.

Combining power with speed Charles Boyd, junior fullback, scrambles away from the defensive players. Charles is the brother of coach Lemon Boyd.

Breaking Away
Sophomore halfback John Allen runs for yardage against the Irving Tigers in a game on the B-team field. B-team finished the season with a 6-3-1 record.

Over the Hills

They ran "over the hills and through the woods," but it was not "to Grandmother's house" that they ran, but to the finish line

Coach Larry Chambliss' 1981 Cross Country team, led by junior Gregory Courtwright, performed at a very high level this year, turning heads wherever they chose to run. However, for the second straight year, the running Cats advanced to the prestigious Region II race (covering all of Northeast Texas) only to fail to place in the top three teams.

As mentioned, the team was led by junior Greg Courtwright who, all season, consistently placed in the top several runners in meets numbering over a hundred competitors.

While Greg was the leader, he was in no way the only standout. As seniors, Chris Brooks and Gary Purdy in their last season to run for the team, performed admirably in district and regional meets. Chris and Gary the district race, and did exceptionally well at regionals with Chris in 24th place and Gary in 41st place. Other varsity runners who did well during the year were juniors Mike Marsh, Jay Robertson, Alan Hendrickson, and senior Stephen Romo who performed in place of the injured Hendrickson at Regionals.

Outstanding female runners on the Cross Country team included senior Jennifer Grosz, senior Susan Cole, and juniors Lisa Barker, Celeste Harmon, and Chris Wubbena. The women's JV team, consisting of mostly juniors and sophomores, won the prestigious district title defeating Richardson and Plano.

Junior Lisa Barker, who placed 7th, said, "We just wanted to win it for Mary Jane Shirley, a senior in her last year. It made us run that much harder."

All in all, it was a superb year, and Coach Chambliss said "We're gonna' be even better next year, if it kills us."

Keep On Spiking

Although the 1981-82 volleyball season was not everything the team thought it would be, they gained much needed experience

The season that started with hope ended in despair as the Varsity Volleyball team completed the year with an overall record of 8-10. Most of the wins were in district play, where they had a 5-8 record.

One reason given for the mediochre season was poor concentration on the court. Senior Sandy Currie stated, "We did not click as a team. We had many good players and a lot of ability, but couldn't get it together on the court."

The team also had preparation problems during the season, and seemed to suffer from a lack of motivation. Sharon Harmon, a two year varsity player commented, "We did not practice as hard as we should have, and this showed on our season record." The team also participated in many tournaments, and even though their district record was less than expected, they showed well at every tournament.

The JV team, led by second year coach Linda Lamb, started the season off red hot by winning their first six games, but then they cooled off to end the season with a record of 7-11. The winning slowed down when the team did not want to practice or play as hard as usual in the middle of the year, and as a result, they played "lacklusted" ball the rest of the season.

Connie Brewer, junior, stated, "We became overconfident and thought we were better than we really were." The team has a lot of talented players who will return next year when a district title is expected. Sophomore Vakinta Keller said, "The district better look out next year, because then we will be ready." Though the 1982 season was not everything that the players hoped it would be, neither the Varsity nor the JV team was devastated by their average seasons.

Rebuilding Year

After unexpectedly winning the district title the year before, defense of the crown fell just short in 1982

Beginning the year with a district crown under their belts, the Varsity Baketball team started the season with high hopes.

The season began with a defeat of Grand Prairie by a score of 39-30, but after this loss the Cats bounced back and succeeded in winning two straight games, but their streak was broken as they were defeated by the Stallions of North Mesquite.

One of the most exiting games of the year was the opportunity that the Cats had to play at Reunion Arena prior to the Mavericks game. Senior Derrick Sheppard stated, "The place was so big it had me in awe, it was so unusual to play a high school game in a place like that." At the Arena, the Cats proved that they had no trouble in hurdling the North Garland Raiders, defeating them with a score of 62-43.

As the team began district play, they easily won over Newman-Smith by sixteen points but they suffered a letdown as the Richardson Eagles put down the Cats by a score of 53-41.

The dreaded cats from Plano traveled to the LH gym and with the help of great fan support and team unity, the Lake Highlands Wildcats were the victors by a score of 40-39.

With the second half of district play much like the first, the team ended with a five and two record. The 1981-82 season had many bright and exiting spots, one of which was the introduction of sophomores Leroy Brewster, Trey Kimbrough, and David Earhart. Team members selected were Stu Graham as the player with the most 'hustle,' and Derrick sheppard was most spirited. Joseph Fresquez was chosen most improved. Senior Karl Hittle commented, "Barring injuries, next year's team should go a long way."

'Roe-lling' Along

Coach Jimmy Roe continued to be a valuable asset as he helped the JV basketballers mature to varsity status

The generally unsung boys' junior varsity basketball team, composed of mostly sophomore guys, completed the 1982 season with a fine record of 14-12. Under the expertise coaching of Jimmy Roe, the team managed to improve steadily throughout the year, and should provide next years' varsity basketball team with plenty of talented personnel for the 1982-83 season.

The starters on this years' team were sophomores Derrick Culbreath, Barry Rudd, Bobby Shackelford, Jeff Hurley, and David Earhart.

The season started the season off on a low tide by losing their first two games to Grand Prairie and Haltom City by identical scores of 40-44, a narrow loss. They then won the next six games, including a 60-35 thorough thrashing of district arch-rival Berkner. THe team went on to suffer losses in the next three out of four games, with their only victory coming over Bishop Lynch.

Coach Roe stated that, "I felt that by the end of the year we were beginning to play like we were capable of playing. We matured quite a bit during this year's season." The team did make a lot of progress together throughout the year.

As district started, junior Anton Houston commented, "I'm looking forward to district play. It will give me a chance to sharpen my skills before next year."

Trey Kimbrough also stated, "The fundamentals you learn help you in the future, because the competition at the JV level is about the same as all over."

The season went about as expected, with the team winning their share of games and losing some, but for all concerned it was a very worthwhile year.

'Perkin' Up At LH

They didn't win district, but they played quality basketball, usually before an almost empty gymnasium

Starting the year with a new coach, and the competition of the tough Berkner Rams and Plano Cats, the Lady Wildcats faced several hurdles to overcome, succeeded, and ended the season by finishing third in the district.

Coach Dennis Perkins inherited a team with great potential and talent. Led by senior Donna Cummins, the team scored high in many of their games, but always seemed to fall short against Plano and tough rival, the Berkner Rams.

Junior Patti Wren was an all-around consistent player, and was a main factor in the Lady Wildcats' strong defense. Also, starting sophomore D'Anne Young was voted by her peers as the Most Improved Player of the 1981-82 season, and Donna Cummins ws considered the Most Spirited.

Although the Lady Wildcats were one of the top teams in the district, student body support was not all that the Cats expected. D'Anne Young commented, "I was disappointed, the only time students would come was when the players continually asked."

Led by coach Larry Chambliss, the girl's junior varsity basketball team had a very successful season. Coach Chambliss stated, "The J.V. teams are just a tune-up for varsity, and in that respect, the girls had an outstanding year." In addition to district victoris, the team also pulled off upsets by defeating South Oak Cliff and Newman Smith. Chosen by the other players of the team, Sonya Moss was voted Most Valuable, and Shelly Dunn was also chosen as Most spirited.

With great talent and team spirit, the the Lady Wildcats basketball team was led by several outstanding players and ended the season with success.

Points and Pins

Coach David Abercrombie's wrestlers once again proved they were one of the best teams in the entire state

Though the wrestling team is not yet as well-known as the LH football or basketball teams, they are steadily gaining popularity as well as support throughout the student body at Lake Highlands. Supported by the ever- faithful wrestling cheerleaders the Matmates, the team surprised a lot of people with their determination and team spirit. THey managed to take tenth place out of seventy teams at the State Meet held at MacArthur High School.

THe '82 edition of the wrestling team began practicing in late fall for their season with more than fifty hopefuls trying to make the team, but as the season drew nearer, many dropped out. Senior Lance VanWinkle explained, "Coach Abercrombie works us hard to prepare us for the season. Those who can handle it stay, those who can't, quit."

Evidentally the work paid off as the team overcame such rivals as Richardson, Plano and R.L. Turner to qualify six wrestlers for state. These six were seniors Lance Van Winkle, 129 lbs.; Alan Figge, 148 lbs.; John Zikos, 170 lbs. Juniors who qualified were Kirk Lee, Chris Atlason, and Tom Dendy, all of whom finished second in regionals.

Chris Atlason was the only grappler to place in the state meet, finishing second to the same wrestler who defeated him in regionals.

Coach Abercrombie hopes with the growing support wrestling is receiving around the state it will soon become a sanctioned sport by the University Interscholastic League.

Flips and Flops

With Sondra Smith, Lisa Cakarnis, and Raymond Foster leading the way, some gymnasts qualified for state

Flipping, flopping, and flying through the air with the greatest of ease, the Lake Highlands' Gymnastics team worked hard to represent LH at meets throughout Texas.

Starting in November and continuing through April, these atheletes could be found working out and perfecting exercises for events on the floor, balance beam, and uneven parallel bars. The girls and boys practiced from 2:30 until after 5:00 five days per week.

The team consisted of twenty-five individuals - fifteen girls and ten boys - whose selection was based on their gymnastic ability. As a whole in competition the team fared well, and their coach Ms. Denise Jones felt that their best event as a team was the floor exercise.

Top competitors on the LH team were Sondra Smith and Lisa Cakarnis. Junior Sondra Smith placed in every event in regional competition. She won second on bars, fourth on floor exercise, fourth on vault, and fifth place on the balance beam. Others placing in the regional meet were Raymond Foster placing third on floor exercise and on the pommel horse.

Donese Davenport, one of the juniors on the gymnastics team, said,"With the help of our hard working coach, gymnastics was a fun sport but it required a lot of work and dedication on the part of every member on the team. Karen Hurley also felt that gymnastics was fun, but hard work. The team practiced hard and was proud to have such talented teammates representing Lake Highlands in area competitions and in regionalmeets, and everyone's efforts were appreciated.

Smack It
Michael Linenberger, junior, prepares to kick the ball clear to the other end of the field in the LH vs. Pearce soccer game.

Kicking off the 1981-82 soccer season were two teams of hard working soccer players. Unlike some sports, soccer demands year round practice and playing. As allowed by soccer rules, the players participate in both club soccer and soccer as a varsity sport, but it was believed that the rules might change when the teams went under UIL affiliated rules.

Kickin' It Off

Hopes were high for a district championship for a while, but in the end the bid fell a little short

To be members of the teams, sixty boys tried out for thirty-six positions. There were fifteen junior varsity members.

The State of Texas has one of the top soccer programs and the Lake Highlands' area has one of the most well organized quality soccer programs.

The boys practiced from 2:45 to 5:00 with three to four weeks off of practice in December. There were scrimmages in January, and a ten game district season in February. Playoffs were held in March and April.

Coach Adams felt that this years team was very unified and that it had a great deal more individual talent compared to other years. He was very proud of the players involved in the program, and hopes that the unity of the team will carry on to next year's team, because the "quality on the team was very good, very controlled."

Player Carl Schultz stated, "Under Coach Adams, the team is constantly improving, and it reflected in the team's record."

Junior Varsity player Duane Utter commented, "I thought it was a great year and it was really exiting that, undefeated, we went to and won district. The team here was the best, and we had a good coach."

The soccer teams had a successful year thanks to hard team effort and Coach Adams.

Stimulating

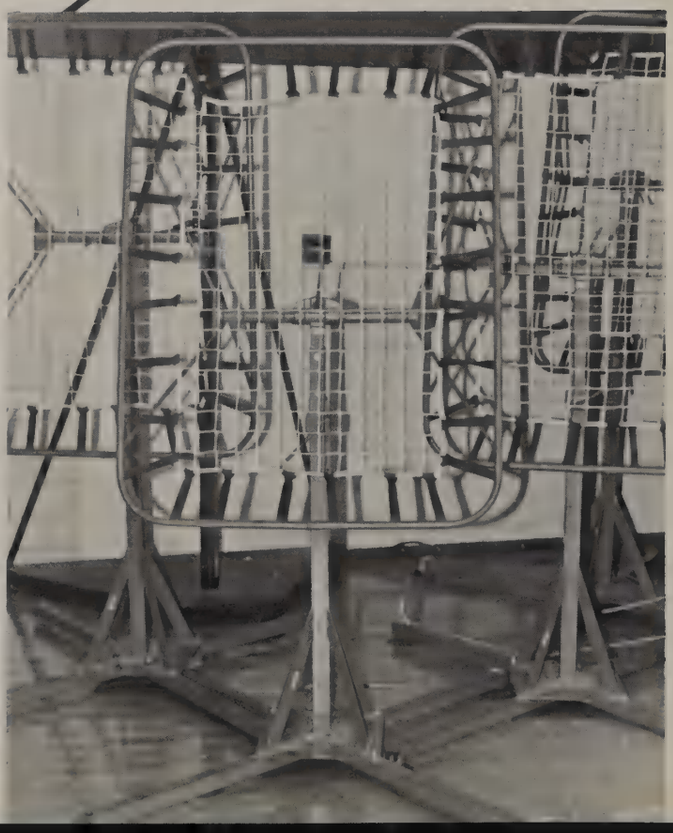
One of the modern devices used to keep the athletic department moving, this Ultra-sound Muscle Stimulator provides relief for pain caused by cramps and tightness.

It Pays Off

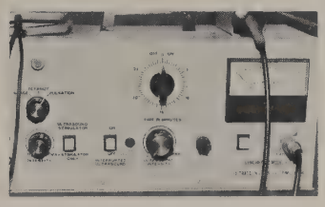
Coach Joe Bob Johnson steps from the bus after the District 5A State Championship. Quite a lot of money in sending the football team to Houston, but many people felt that the cost was justified by the number of students supporting the team by attending games.

Throwbacks

One of the many expenses of the volleyball team, these throwbacks bounce the volleyballs off at the proper angle for volleyball practice. These pieces of equipment were very valuable in the team's workout.



On Their Own Or Playing On A School Team, It Was Not Cheap



Money was provided by the school or the district, but the cost of athletics proved to be very expensive

Money, money, money! Anything that was worth anything cost bucks, and the students at Lake Highlands knew it. Whether the money came out of their own pockets or their parents, or the Richardson ISD's everything that went on at LH cost.

By far the most popular expenditure was athletics, whether it was gymnastics or football. Students didn't have to pay any amount to play the sport of their choice, unless they preferred their own personal equipment.

Coach Joe Bob Johnson stated, "The amount of money each sport receives depends upon the number of students participating in the sport." Therefore, some sports received more money because they had more student participation.

Several sports, such as volleyball, and baseball have fund raising projects, such as the sale of district championship shirts, candy, and the ever popular "Beat Plano" shirt.

From head to toe each piece of any uniform was an athletic expense. For example, for a complete football uniform, the cost was aproximately $219. But uniforms weren't the only expense, there were the people who ran the stadium, and took tickets and of course, the ever increasing cost of utilities. Ticket sales helped pay for these expenses , and the money didn't come out of the athletic fund.

Busing
Eric Whitted, junior defensive star on the Lake Highlands' Wildcat football team, steps off of one of the many expensive buses used to transport the team and equipment to and from away games.

The Wildcat Club also contributed money to all the sports at LakeHighlands which helped the advancement of the Athletic Department. "I enjoy competing in sports, and I would still play, even if I had to spend my own money," commented Melissa Dortch, an athlete at LH.

Even though some believed too much was spent on athletics, it was evident that students didn't have to contribute anything but themselves to participate in any sport. They say everything costs money, even having fun, but at Lake Highlands, if a student was interested in athletics, he, or she could be a part of the sports scene if he was willing to just work hard.

Fancy Footwork

Although this year didn't prove to be the greatest, improvement and tremendous effort saved the day

Caution: Slippery When Wet
Sophomore Tracey Moore inbounds the ball, a difficult task since it has just rolled through a mixture of water and mud. The ball could easily slip out of her hands and fall into the possession of the opposing team.

Pep Talk
Before the start of the game against Richardson, Coach Lamb discusses game strategy with the girl's soccer team. The team's one point victory was due to her guidance.

Kicking, kicking, and kicking even harder was what it took to make the 1981-82 girls' varsity and junior varsity soccer teams.

Led by coaches Linda Lamb and Larry Chambliss, the girls practiced two hours every afternoon to get ready for the seven game district season lasting from January until the end of April.

The twenty member junior varsity squad had a successful season, finishing with a three win, two tie, two loss record to earn third place in district.

Coach Chambliss felt that the girls played extremely well considering they were new to each other from different junior highs. He felt that it was mid season before the girls really played well together as a team. Since they only had seven games, they did not get a whole lot of game experience.

One of the highlights of the season was the game against R.L.Turner when Lake Highlands scored nine goals - a tremendous effort by the team. Another was the game against Plano when the game was a tie in regulation. LH played Plano in their roughest game, and Plano won the district.

The varsity girls team had a season record of two wins five losses, placing sixth going into district competition and semi finals.

Junior varsity player Tracie Green stated, "We had some let downs, but all in all, the whole team felt we emerged as champs. Being on the team was an experience. I met a lot of really nice girls, and I think Coach Chambliss was great!

Varsity player Laura Enlow commented, "Everyone was really exited about getting into the finals. We didn't have a great season, but we improved. Miss Lamb really worked hard and was behind us all the way."

Different Strokes

The major accomplishment of the year was advancing the entire team to the regional meet at Loos Pool

Competing with only an eighteen member team, the Lake Highlands Swim Team had to work extra hard to represent Lake Highlands.

Every morning the members of the Varsity team worked out from 7:00 to 9:00, while junior varsity and divers took the afternoon shift of 3:00 to 4:15.

When asked why he participated on the swim team, Don Blevins stated, "I swim because it's fun and it keeps me in shape."

In the Trinity Invitational meet, the boys placed second and the girls placed eighth.

Coach John Kalny felt a major accomplishment of the swim team was to advance all members to the Regional meet held at Loos Field, where three out of four of the LH divers placed in the top six.

In the meets which enabled the teams to advance, the boys placed fourth out of eight teams at the District Competition, and the girls finished fifth out of eight teams.

In October, the girl swimmers participated in the State Fair Physical Fitness Testing, which tested basic physical ability and endurance. THe LH girls won third in State.

During the season, five new records were set by the team, including Jennifer Grosz in the backstroke, Craig Miller in the breaststroke, Mike Short in the 50 yard freestyle,and 100 yard freestyle. Mike also reset his backstroke record, and the boys medley relay set also set a new record.

Jennifer Grosz represented Lake Highlands in State Competition, placing fifteenth in the backstroke.

Coach Kalny was proud of the team's effort, and is looking forward to someof the promising swimmers from the junior highs to help the team next year.

District Champs

With Thomas Jefferson leading the way, the LH track team piled up enough points to win the team trophy

Regaining that form that made them consistent challengers for the district crown, the Boys' Track team rebounded from a disappointing fifth place finish last year to take first place at the district meet held at Richardson High School.

The track team had six runners that qualified for Regionals. The top performer of the meet, Derrick Sheppard, senior, commented, "I was emotionally up for the meet and that showed in my performance." Derrick qualified in the High Jump and Hurdles. Also qualifying was Greg Courtwright, who came in second in both the mile and two mile races. The final four performers were members of the District Champ 400 meter relay team: Windell Yancy, Simon Turnbull, Aaron Grant, and Thomas Jefferson who also won the 100 meter dash for the second year in a row. The team performed well in all of the meets they entered and also won first place in the Garland Relays. Runners from the J.V. team to look out for next year are Mike Marsh, Chauncy Jenkins, Ricky Robinson, and Sam Crane.

Not always victorious but nevertheless hard-working, the Girls' Track team ran hard and finished fifth in district. The girls 400 meter relay team which consisted of Susan Cole, Beth Williams, Kim Figge, and Sheri Chance finished second and advanced to Regionals. Sheri Chance also finished second in the 400 meter run. The team, although it had many sophomores, had seniors Sherilyn Robinson and Mary Jane Shirley placed well in district. Coach Bobby Burns commented, "With more athletes we could have placed a little better in district." Junior Beth Williams stated, "Although we did not win as much as we would have liked to, it was fun."

Starting at the Top

In only their first year of competition, the powerlifting team achieved the ultimate, a state championship

Young and determined was the only way to describe the rookie power-lifting team. Coached by Bill Persinger, the team participated in three meets and went on to the state competition, only to walk away with Lake Highlands' second sports State Championship of the year.

The team's first year of competition proved to be the best it could be. The team consisted of both juniors and seniors in their respective weight classes.

At the State Meet, seniors Tab Bingamon and Phil Carnegis took first place in their divisions, and juniors Harry Everett and Mike Markle also placed first. Placed second was senior Matt Bradley, while senior Danny Burgess and junior Todd Condiff took third place in their respective weight classes.

Even with the successful year, the team had its problems. When the team went to Austin to participate in the State Meet, the school district refused to provide transportation for them, so the members of the team and Coch Persinger were forced to go in their own personal cars.

Lake Highlands finished the State Meet with 41 points, defeating West by 5 points and Burleson by 18 points. The meet was held in Austin on May 8th, and it was a memorable day for all of the team members.

As Tab Bingamon put it, "It was one of the greatest moments that I've gone through in a long time." Coach Bill Persinger summed up the entire experience, "It's an individual sport, but when it came down to the trophy, it was a team effort. They reached down and saw it and got it when the time came. 'Proud,' I don't think justified my feeling for them.

'Dualing' Rackets

Successful? Yes! But missing the district title by only one point was something that hurt a great deal

Getting into the swing of things was the 1981-82 LH Tennis Team. The group was a twenty member team who worked two and one half to three hours a day year round, excluding the month of December.

The team's coach was David Wood and the team captains were Robert Moehler and Debbie Clapp.

The team competed in dual meets twice a week, entering the top six boys and the top six girls every week. On top of the dual meets were a total of twelve tournaments. Sometimes matches lasted as late as midnight. In the matches, players were judged either by team concept, which added up total points from winning, or by the round robin method.

Mr. Wood was very proud of how well the team did as a whole, and was pleased with this year's results. He felt that there were a few outstanding players: Paul Morrow, sophomore, was the boys' Singles District Champ, and won the Garland Single's Tournament in the spring. It was rare for a sophomore to win those titles, and Paul attributed a great deal of his success to the team. Senior Robert Moeller won second in district, and he and Paul advanced to Regionals.

On the girl's team, seniors Laura Chicci and Debbie Clapp took alternates for the regional tournament in singles for the second year.

Winning the most valuable players for the third straight years were Robert Moeller and Debbie Clapp.

Junior Kari Adams said,"I like the challenge of the competition along with the fun." The LH tennis team had a great year, ranking almost twenty in state.

Right On Course

With outstanding scores, the boys varsity chipped, drove, and putted their way to the district crown

Senior golfer Scott Fiddler described the men's 1981-82 golf team accurately in one phrase: "It's the best LH has ever had." The strong and vastly improved team took the district title after placing well in non-district tournaments. LH placed second in the Plano Invitational Tournament on March 5. Their second showing at the Longview Tournament ended in third place. At the Paris Tournament, playing in 32 degree weather and a hailstorm, LH placed second and at the Dallas Invitational took fourth.

In the district tournament, played three weekends at Plano, Sherrill Park, and NTSU, four players shot under 80 on the first day. They placed first in district, twenty-five shots over the nearest contender, Pearce.

On to regionals, the Wildcats shot 303 the first day and 320 the second day at NTSU. The bad luck encountered the second day forced them to come out fourth.

The girls' golf season was more disappointing. THey participated in three non-district tournaments at R.L. Turner, Plano, and Highland Park and made fair showings. THe first round of district play was at Oak Creek Country Club in Greenville, Texas and the second round was at Sherrill Park. Going into the final round of play in second place, the girls were disqualified because of a lack of players. "I was very disappointed that we were not able to compete in district because we probably would have placed," commented coach Jim Davidson. All of the girls, however, lowered their scores tremendously, led by year-round low-scorer Andrea Turner, a sophomore.

Hopes Fall Short

It was ironic that with a record of 21-5 the baseball team did not advance to the state playoffs

The script read for the LH Baseball team to waltz through the district and bring Lake Highlands another State Championship.The team won their first twelve games in a row, and was ranked first in state. Then came the disaster when they lost two games bvack to back against Berkner and Plano and suddenly found themselves two games out of first place.

In the Berkner game, the Cats faced the Rams with Berkner batting and the bases loaded after the first half. LH was ahead. One of Berkner's better batters was up, when the game was suddenly called because of a severe thunderstorm. Because they had played enough innings, LH won by the score of 3-0.Next came the always tough Plano Wildcats and the circumstances made it tougher. The game was a well played one from the start, but when the dust had cleared, Plano had won a heartbreaker by a score of 4-3. The team lost its next two games but won its last three to finish the season with a record of 21-5. The team had many outstanding performers including pitchers Jeff Nicholson and Todd Tschantz.

The infield that consisted of seniors Stave Kenny, Steve Hurst, Scott Atkinson, and sophomore Scott Livingstone. In the outfield there was Tim Mills, Mike Lindley, and Stu Graham.

The team also achieved a record of 21-5 which was better than what most of the payoff teams had. The B-team finished their year with a winning record of 9-7.

Commented sophomore Keith Markham, "Coach Roe mainly worked on the fundamentals with us." The team had several good games including a 10-1 blow out of Bryan Adams.

Ride 'Em Cowboy

From goat tieing to bull riding, the Rodeo Team did it all, performing with very little recognition

Under the guidance of Coach Jimmy Roe, the Lake Highlands Rodeo team was fortunate to have six finals qualifiers.

As a member of the Lone Star High School Rodeo Association, the Lake Highlands Rodeo Team attended and participated in numerous rodeos from August until May. At the end of the season, a cumulative point system was used to determine those individuals with the greatest number of points. These youth then participated in the Lone Star High School Rodeo Finals. The contestants competed in such events as barrel racing, pole bending, bull riding, and a sweetheart was chosen to represent the club at the finals Queen Contest.

Six members of the LH Rodeo Team qualified for the finals, and their sweetheart for the year was Carin Lea. Senior Gary Givney qualified in the saddle bronc division, as did senior John Ricks, sophomore Wade Otte, and senior Terry Jo Harmon, who also competed in bareback bronc riding. Junior Jason Brown also qualified in saddle bronc. Two members also qualified for the state championship rodeo. They were Gary Givney and Terry Jo Harmon.

Officers for the 1981-82 year were Jean Vanderford president, and Kenny DeLong, vice-president. Sponsorship of the club was an unusual matter, for there were four additional sponsors in addition to Coach Roe. Mariuan Lea was the head sponsor, and Sue Rothwell, Sue Vanderford, and Sue Carey were also sponsors.

Each club in the association must sponsor at least one rodeo and Mrs. Rothwell explained, "It costs about $7,000 to successfully put on a rodeo. The main part of this expense is the rodeo stock, concessions, and contract personnel." To finance their rodeo, members sold candy bars and M&M's.

Get Radical! Join a Crowd

Clubs and Organizations = Activity

Organizations. The term implies the process of organizing, and there was definately a terrific amount of organization in the clubs at Lake Highlands this year. It seemed like everyone was a member of something, and people were radically involved in the planning and performance of parties, meetings, service projects, and competitions. The competition for club offices was especially stiff this year, and ambitious members campaigned as heavily for the elections as did the Student Council and cass officers. Language clubs contributed to LH unity with their first annual International Night. Organizations and clubs had a radical year, with radical fun and a radical amount of participation.

At 6:20 on any fall morning, the band members were wondering if it was worth it. But as usual, their awards and excellant half time performances proved that their time was well spent.

The L.H. band performed in many competitions including the Parade of Champions held at the State Fair of Texas. The band fell short of a victory only to Pearce but went on to outdo Pearce at the half time of the district championship football game..L.H. dazzled crowds and dumbfounded Pearce's band with their spectacular "Light's Out" performance. Other half time shows were highlighted by solo performances from Lynn Watkeys, David Zeigler, and Abby Kinny.

Aside from half time performances, the band also performed at the TCU-Texas A&M game.

Perhaps the most outstanding performance given by the band all year was at the UIL competition. The band received all ones from the UIL judges- the highest mark possible.

The most distinguishing quality of the band this year was their closeness. As senior Susan Cole, an ex-band member stated, "You can always tell the band people apart from everyone else because they always stick together."

Jennifer Merlick, a first year band member said, "I really enjoyed my first year in band. We're like one big family because we go through a lot together." She also stated that "having a great football team to play for helped a lot. The support from the fans, parents, and the community was also great."

Drum major Jana Johnson also felt that the closeness of the band was a major factor in the band's success. "The closeness of everyone made practice a lot easier and therefore better."

Although Malcom Helm, band director, felt that the band was "real pitiful" during most of the practices, you know he had to be pleased with the success of the band.

"The most distinguishing quality of the band this year was their closeness...'You can always tell the band people apart...because they always stick together.'"

4000 eyes. Imagine 4000 eyes staring at you! You wait anxiously for your cue to begin. The crowd is silent and it's time to begin. With clammy palms and stomach churning it happens: the spectacular halftime show commences with the award winning Lake Highlands band marching on to the field with heads held high and instruments perched.

The Lake Highlands marching band is composed of three smaller bands: wind ensemble, symphonic, and concert. The 1981-82 concert band was under the direction of Mr. Pete Tolhuizen. Practices were held during second period in the band hall and with only twenty members the band was in for alot of work.

During the 1981-82 season, the concert band had received a rating of "one" or superior at the Buccaneer Music Feastival in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Junior member Greg Asher commented, "Last year we had a great year and the trip to Corpus was a blast! It really was worth all the work! The '81-'82 band is going to have a hard time following our rating."

The band also received a great honor when they were asked to play for Mayor Jack Evan's International ball at the Fairmont in April.

Preparing for their trip to Florida, the band sponsored many fund raisers. During the Christmas season the entire marching band sold Christman trees at the corner of Sudelia and Kingsley aquired from the Brockett-Tyree tree farms. They also sold magazine subscriptions, records, candy, and minature stained glass windows to raise approximately $80,000 needed for the trip. The band planned to play the "New Colonial March" for the judges. A quick road trip to Disneyland was also on the agenda.

Junior tuba player Brad Dibble said of this year's band, "It takes a lot of practice and dedication but I think we can make next year's band even better!"

The crowd is silent and it's time to begin. With clammy palms and stomach churning, it happens: the spectacular halftime show commences.

You've heard of the Boston Pops and the New York Philharmonic, but what about the Lake Highlands' symphony?

THe LH symphony was composed of fifty-five talented musicians under the direction of conductor Larry Gebhardt and Concert Master John Nutting, senior. The group was called upon to play for the Lake Highlands' musicals and drama productions, including Jabberwock and The Sound of Music. Practicing for the wide variety of music they played took a lot of time.

The group practiced each Wednesday after school and the strings practiced during a fourth period class also conducted by Mr. Larry Gebhardt.

Allison Moore, junior, stated, "Sometimes practice can get a little harried, and sometimes we go over things a hundred times before we get it!

The bad part is sometimes we don't get time to rehearse together."

Some members participated in the UIL concert and sightreading competiton. The orchestra participated in the Buccaneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi, Texas. The trip was by far the members' favorite activity of the year. "The weather wasn't that great, but we had fun anyway," commented strings player Kathy Lemon.

The Lake Highland's orchestra was invited to play at the Lake Highlands Commencement Exercises at Moody Coliseum on May 25th. The symphony orchestra played two selections including "Pomp and Circumstance" and Grand March from Aida." Lake Highland's senior orchestra members played with the orchestra until right before the ceremony began, and then slipped into their places in line to graduate. If the 1982-83 symphony lives up to their predecessor's, they will certainly have an excellant year.

THe Lake Highlands' orchestra had multitudes of talent. They might not have been the Philharmonic, but they could definately carry a tune!

It was not just strings and woodwinds, it was early morning rehearsals, numerous concerts, and being the best in competition.

LH Choirs See Return To Quality Under McGill

Probably the most pleasant sounds heard at Lake Highlands came from the music department. The department consisted of three choirs: the junior varsity , Acapella, and Espree.

The Acapella and Espree groups were selected by the choir director Stan McGill on their vocal talent.

Throughout the year, all choirs worked hard for concerts and all contests. There were outside practices besides the everyday classtime for such things as sectionals , and the women's and men's chorus. All the choirs did well at contests. At the Plano East Senior High Contest, the Women's Chorus received a sweepstakes rating of one.

The Acapella Choir had one important goal for the year, which was raising money for the Tupperware Contest in Orlando Florida. The group did things like selling drinks at Cowboy games, selling light bulbs, and having a car wash to raise money for the trip.

The choirs were led by president David Depew, vice president Mike Hachtman, secretary Lori McKee, and treasurer Cathy Cooke.

Director Stan McGill stated that they were a fine group that had worked hard. As summed up by junior Lori Farley, "Choir took a lot of time and hard work, but it was worth it."

Another choir member, Mike Hachtman, said,"I like to sing, and choir teaches me a lot even though I don't wish to pursue a career in music." While junior Kari Adams added that choir was a good experience, she said she enjoyed working with people most.

The contests that choir members worked hard to enter had four different groups with three numbers and three judges who awarded prizes on skill.

With three choirs to direct, Stan McGill had to work very hard to coordinate all of their activities.

Lake Highlands was very fortunate to have such a talented group of students in the choir program during 1981-82.

The hard work paid off as LH choirs romped through various competitions with nothing but the highest scores and audience respect.

"Lake Highlands High School is proud to present the high Stepping, award winning, Lake Highlands Highlandettes under the direction of Mrs. Donna Clark. The 1981-82 Highlandette officers are Captain Alisa Vance, First Lieutenant Jennifer Vogel, and Second Lieutenants Nancy Lyons, Jackie Stallings and Beverly Turner."

Wildcat fans heard this announcement a total of fifteen times, including twice in Texas Stadium and once in the Houston Astrodome. The 1981 Highlandettes truly did have an award winning year. At the SMU summer drill team camp in June, the Highlandettes won a superior rating in the Show-Off routine, won sweepstakes, more ribbons than any other team, and Alisa Vance and Nancy Lyons won Most Outstanding Girl at the camp.

Senior Wendi Neal won the Highlandette Gold Citation Award for being the best performer during the year. In December they marched in the Richardson Christmas Parade, hosted a one-day workshop for the Superstar Drill Team Camp, and wrapped up a long string of fifteen halftime performances.

Mrs. Clark, Highlandette director for three years, commented, "We have thirty-six new girls this year, more than any other. We have had to work a little harder and a little longer to have perfection."

Highlandette captain Alisa Vance was "an all-around outstanding leader." According to Mrs. Clark, Alisa was "a leader, dancer, choreographer, and by far she is one of the best captains the Highlandettes have ever had."

Carrie Keith commented, "When all 65 of us are in one room everyone expects chaos, but instead we work very hard." All the girls had a certain closeness. Juniors Kari Adams and Kathy Preng both said, "We are all very close. Once I made Highlandettes I instantly had 60 friends."

had an award winning year with top honors in every field. Mrs. Clark summed up best when she said, "If it wasn't worth it, I wouldn't be here."

Imagine your legs really aching, your mouth quivering from smiling. You're tired and thirsty, but you do it just one more time!

The Lake Highlands Highlandettes truly were an award winning drill team, and it was all due to the work and dedication of all the girls. Highlandettes were invited to march in the Mayor's International Ball at the Fairmont Hotel on April 17. Each girl wore a foreign costume and carried an eleven-foot flag representing her country. The girls marched in a snake shaped pattern in front of the extravagently dressed invited guests.

"It was really exciting seeing all of the ladies dressed in designer gowns," commented junior Jan Lamb after the ball.

Preparing for the seven mile march in the Fiesta Flambeau parade in San Antonio, the girls had to go through strenuous exercise training to acquire endurance. The Highlandettes have won first place in the parade the past two years.

After Fiesta, the only activity left for the Highlandettes was the tryouts and selection of the 1982-83 line members.

Over one hundred girls tried out for the mere 55 positions to the tune of Billy Joel's "Sometimes a Fantasy." The girls were judged on kicks, splits, marching, poise, and showmanship.

Due to the departure of director Donna Clark, a new director was chosen. Ms. Julie Erck, the former 1974 Highlandette captain, was chosen after an extensive search. All of the girls were happy with the selection.

"I really think she'll do a good job," commented newly elected sophomore Michelle Liscio, "She gets right up there and does everything with us!"

The Highlandettes had a truly award winning year, with honors in every field. All the girls can look back on a very successful year.

The Mayor's Ball and Fiesta Flambeau proved that the Highlandettes were one group that was in demand other than at football games

Scholarship, Service, and Leadership-Honorable Aims

What do the top students at Lake Highlands have in common? For one thing, most are members of the National Honor Society, a well-known honor organization with 115 members, 77 seniors and 38 juniors.

An "A" average in academics and citizenship ws required for membership. Aside from being an honor, the club gives members an opportunity to help others

Design/Cindy Tittle

Besides academic grades, members were chosen for their leadership ability and character.

Other activities included a toy drive around Christmas, a faculty breakfast in February, and a spring picnic.

Junior Shannon Lavender recalled, "Dr. Buchanan gave an inspiring speech that really made me want to excell."

Senior Kevin Williams thought the toy drive, which aided children in hospitals, was one of the most successful events. "The officers promoted it well so it ran better than last year."

Sheryl Sutphen, junior, said, "The teacher breakfast is always fun for us and the teachers appreciate it too."

To raise money, students in the NHS sold red carnations for 75 cents to celebrate the first day of spring. Money raised was used to buy new supplies such as induction pins and cards. Because of problems with the florist, however, some carnations were wilted and profits were decreased because they had to be replaced.

Sponsored by Mr. David Patton and Mr. John Williams, officers for the organization were Mike Cramer, President; Scott White, vice president; Kevin Williams, treasurer; Carolyn Burrow, secretary; and Suzy Fager Service Coordinator.

Academic achievement and citizenship got them there, but once they were in, Honor Society members also had a great deal of fun.

Unlike most clubs at LH, the Honor Society had an induction ceremony. On November 5, members wore blue and gold ribbons all day and were taken to the auditorium during second period for instructions concerning the induction ceremony on the evening of Nov. 16.

There's one club at Lake Highlands that every male would love to join, a club with over 200 members that help people in the Lake Highlands area and beyond. No, it's not the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders Fan Club, it's the Girls' Service League.

This year's club was sponsored by Mrs. Pat Kitzmiller and Mrs. Kristin Weis and was under the leadership of president Donna Cummins. With the extension of five extra football games, GSL had many more spirit projects to do, such as cookie bags, run-through signs, and lunches. Not only were the football players given these items but also the basketball, wrestling, swimming, and baseball teams as well. GSL not only served athletes and teachers at Lake Highlands but groups in need also.

On Halloween some representative members took decorative candy sacks that the girls made to the sick children at Children's Medical Center.

For Christmas they collected toiletries for a nearby convalescent home. In the spring, members made "feel books" for blind children at the Lighthouse for the Blind.

There were also several guest speakers including Mr. Gil Stricklin who spoke on the topic of self-identify. Program director Lori McKee stated, "Guest speakers are a great way for all of us t learn all kinds of in teresting things."

The annual GS Barn Dance was hel on a cold, blustery da at the Ranch House i Wylie, Texas on Jan 14. The turnout wa tremendous, with ove 400 attending. Th club provide refreshments and live band as well a recorded "Top 40 music. Money wa raised for the danc by selling cow bell and bumper sticker during the playof weeks. Junior GS member Christy Je fers commented, " had such a good time Stephen (Taylor) and love to 'Kicker' danc and the deejay wa great! I was afrai that I wouldn't be ab to go because of lac of spirit projects. Thanks goodness have a cool officer."

It's Monday already!

This phrase could be heard on the lips of almost every Girl's Service League member when Monday afternoon rolled around. Lake Highland's GSL was quite busy with bake sales, spirit projects, and dances. With the exception of three absences, each girl was required to attend every meeting. Using supplies provided by the Wildcat Club, the girls worked hard on signs for pep rallies, and run-thrus for football games. Although the spirit projects were important, the girls' main goal for the year was to raise enough money to have several successful dances.

Sponsor stickers and bake sales provided most of the money needed for the dances. Due to the prosperous sales of the State game paraphenalia, the Barn Dance, held annualy in Wylie, was a great success. The styles greatly differed from the previous year's attire. The look of the prarie skirt and ruffled shirt were in for the '81-'82 dance while in years past western shirts and jeans were standard dress. The girls sponsored one more dance during the year.

The annual GSL Presentations Dance, the last dance sponsored by the club, was held on March 13, at the Hilton Hotel on Mockingbird Lane. The dance included a dinner catered by the Hilton. At the dance, senior club members were presented by fathers or boy friends in front of all the guests. Each girl was presented with abouquet of flowers and her achievements and awards were announced. Junior Kelly Kimbrough stated, "This dance was my favorite of the whole year."

Officers for the following year were also announced during Presentations. The 1982-83 GSL officers include: President Jeannie McCray, Lauren Hill, Karen Hurley, Kathy Preng, Lisa Randall, Kari Adams, Lori Farley, Suzy Carroll, and Jennifer Garrett.

These girls will hopefully provide the new members with great leadership abilities and help Lake Highlands keep the terrific GSL spirit and school support.

As the seniors led the GSL throughout the year in their many endeavors, the juniors were preparing themselves for next year.

What did a Lake Highlands student interested in getting first hand experiencein vocational development, civic conciousness, social understanding, and leadership get involved with? The answer was DECA, the Distributive Educational Clubs of America. DECA was a very large organization involving 65 members, sponsored by Kay Gozberk and Maryetta Griffin. The officers of DECA were president Brian Klinger, vice president Mike Jones, secretary Cindi Bynum, historian Danielle Graham, parliamentarian Larry McGunnis, and reporter Ellen Tomlinson.

The goals of DECA were to teach vocational development through marketing and distribution experiences, along with learning about everything from the production of a product until it reaches the consumer, or everything about a service.

DECA members attended classes along with holding a job, and once a month they squeezed in time for an early morning meetingwhere they usually heard a speaker.

Another opportunity for first hand training was through the Office Education Association Club. As members of OEA, students who were taking Vocational Office Education could furtheir leadership and office skills.

Sponsored by Shelley Kane, OEA was led by president Shannon Primeaux, vice president Stacy Schaeffer, secretary Cindy Hirschberg, treasurer Amy Shelton , parliamentarian Suzanne Ford, and historian Jackie Williams. The officers worked hard on their bake sale and candy sale to raise money , and the Employer Banquet held to honor and entertain the employers who trained the members in their jobs.

Mrs. Kane stated that she has been able to place OEA members in variety of office positiond, but the success of the programs depend on the futures of the students.

Gaining on-the-job experience was only a part of what being in a vocational program had to offer, as shown by DECA and OEA members.

Students involved in vocational training classes not only had a chance to earn money and a diploma at the same time but also to be members in either VICA or VOCT. Those participating in ICT had automatic membership in VICA and those in CVAE belonged to VOCT.

The two units of VOCT were sponsored by Mrs. Beverly Patton and Miss Betty Spearman. Officers for Unit 1 were Wade Surls, president; Randy Kowalski, Vice President; Lori Marriott, secretary, Jeff Tellson, treasurer; Steve Gillon, reporter; and Peggy Pippal and Donny Dickson, Sergeants at Arms. Those for Unit 2 were Suzanne Talbott, president; Amy Dunby, vice president; Jodi Demmin, secretary; Mike Tishlias, treasurer; John Brett, reporter; and Steve Falker, sergeant at arms. The 38 members enjoyed selling candy, belt buckles, and jewelry to earn money for parties and picnics. In the fall they opened a spookhouse to help Campfire Girls with their Halloween carnival. They later went caroling at rest homes and gave small gifts. At the three meetings of area clubs, LH came away with blue ribbons and four seniors attended the state convenvention in San Antonio. Perhaps the biggest event of the year was the final banquet. Students attended with their employers and awards were given for good work records, outstanding fundraisers, and helpful employers.

VICA, with 42 members sponsored by Harold Hargus. Officers were Tery Paternostro, Presidnnt; Todd Southerland, Vice President; Stacy Sims, secretary; Shawn Mitteldorf, Sergeant at Arms; and Dave Roberts, Treasurer. Although they had no fundraisers, one of the service club's most successful events was a blood drive in April. With help form the Wadley Blood Bank, 90 pints of blood were donated form LH students and faculty.

The VOCT sold candy and jewelry, while the VICA sponsored a very successful blood drive, events which made the year worthwhile.

Moms and Dads Get Involved In Activities at Lake Highlands

The PTA, the Wildcat Club, the Band Parents and others gave much time and help to many areas of the school

Students were not the only ones involved in clubs during the 1981-82 school year. Parents joined many different clubs and became involved in the activities at Lake Highlands.

Some clubs sponsored individual groups while others contributed to all aspects of the school. Many community groups became a vital part of Lake Highlands. The Wildcat Club supported and sponsored all different sports at Lake Highlands. They raised money by selling stadium cushions, baseball caps, and many other Wildcat souvenirs. The club also hosted the annual All Sports Banquet during the spring, in which the athletes were recognized for exceptional talents and honors they may have received. Don Hurst was the president, and many parents of LH athletes were members.

Athletes Appreciated
Even the cafeteria was all decked out at the All-Sports Banquet honoring senior athletes. Sponsored by the Wildcat Club, juniors Patti Wren and Cindy Arrington enjoy food and conversation.

The Lake Highland's PTA was also an active part of the school. "PTA was a way for parents to get involved in the activities of the school," stated PTA president Mrs. Joann Nieman. Members helped with scheduling, college night, ticket sales, dances, and many other activities. They had four regular meetings during the school year, and several optional seminars.

Many community clubs also contributed time and money to Lake Highlands. Among those were the Northlake Exchange Club, which chooses one outstanding boy and one girl to be Students of the Month. Also included were the Lake Highland's Women's League and the American Field Service Parent's Club. THese esteemed organizations provided scholarships to students, and the AFS helped to raise to send LH students to foreign countries. Also, the Northlake Exchange Cub provided the LH Northlake Exchange Club Students of the Month.

Although helping students was the primary purpose of the parent's clubs, they also enjoyed the opportunity to meet other parents who shared their interests, providing services and supporting the students of Lake Highlands. It was evident that parents helped LH in a meaningful way.

Parlez vous Francais? You may not speak French, but many Lake Highland's students did, while combining their efforts to have a successful French Club.

The French Club was sponsored by Ms. Fran Maples and led by their president Scott White, vice president Mardie Slocum, secretary-treasurer Marina Mackenzie, and historian Lisa Fleck.

The French Club met for a unique party or special event every month. Many of these parties had original themes and were always fun for the members. They had a swimming party, a casino party, and a French costume party at Ben Bates' house to celebrate Halloween. Members dressed up as famous French people or French characters. Some of the award winning costumes were a vineyard girl, a French maid, a French film director, and a French peasant. Other interesting parties were a Christmas party after everyone had learned French carols in class, and a scavenger hunt. Club members agreed with Susan Favour's comment that "I liked going to the parties."

One of the most famous French Club activities was the bake sale. There were two bake sales during the year, and each made at least $200. During the sales there were always long waiting lines of students wanting a sample of French cooking. Another fund raiser was the sale of French Club t-shirts to members.

During foreign language month at Lake Highlands, the French Club participated in National Foreign Night in the student center. Club President Scott White helped to make crepes for everyone to taste, and some other members presented a Don Juan comedy skit. Other special activities were the Foreign Language Club Olympics and the annual French Club Banquet at one of the exquisite French restaurants in May which everyone looked forward to.

Because of their enthusiastic members and successful bake sales,and unique parties, the french club had a great year.

You knew when it was time for the French Club Bake Sale because you had to fight for a place in line to purchase the goodies.

Sprechen sie Deutsch? Could you answer that question with a yes? Well if you could not, there was a group at Lake Highlands who could have said, "Yah." They were the members of the German Club.

Throughout the year the German Club was able to have a Variety of activities due to the large number of active members who participated.

The 1981-82 German Club was supported by their German teacher and sponser Fran Frye and led by: President Tracy Higgins, Vice President Linda Smith, Treasurer Andy Nieman, and Secretary Judy Manning.

In November the Club was able to take fifteen students to the Novemberfest in Fort Worth. Seven of the German students qualified to compete in the state convention. Another special activity was a German convention held on April 17 and a week in February was designated as Foreign Language Week.

During the week members of the German Club urged students to take German and handed out pretzels which had fortunes and messages for students to "Take German".

The money making projects for the Club were bake sales and candy sales.

Some of the social activities included a progressive dinner, a Christmas party, a hayride, and an end of the year banquet.

Another highlight of the year was attending the convention in Austin.

From the conventions and the social activities, plus the cultural activities the members of the German Club felt that they had a great year.

When asked what he thought avout the German Club, junior Stuart Sides replied,"I felt it was interesting and cultural. I learned a lot about German and had fun. It wasn't boring; it was quite entertaining."

Summing up her thoughts about the Club, President Tracy Higgins said, "It was a productive year. I thought it was fun because all members worked together."

The trip to New Braunfels was the highlight of the year as Frau Fry and the rest of the German Clubbers frolicked in the German community.

Isn't that a toga? Is it a scene from Animal House? No, it's simply a group of veracious Lake Highlands Latin Clubbers!

The 1981-82 Latin Club had a very busy and productive year. The club was the largest Latin Club in the state and the largest foreign language club at Lake Highlands. Under the direction of sponsor Patti Rawlins, officers Julie Metevier, Chris Chiles, Cathy Lawrence, Valerie Meshack, Edward Ingram, Cathy Johnson, Bill Dendy, and Chris Ave planned many activities.

The club had the annual slave picnic on Sept. 19 at Flagpole Hill. First year members were slaves to their masters, the second and third year members. On Sept. 24 the second and third year students visited the Greek Food Festival during school, thus improving the Latin Club's notorious reputation for good food.

On Oct. 7, the club had a pizza party at Maryjane Shirley's house with a total of 30 pizzas. On Nov. 17 a progressive dinner was planned with Italian, Mexican, and French food included on the menu. Dec. 10 saw the beginning of the Saturnalia with a big dinner at Birra Poretti's. The king and queen of the festival were Mark Muse and Jana Johnson.

The club earned money by selling candy and made posters and buttons to promote their club during National Language month.

The club had weekly study parties to help participants in the Area Latin Convention at Denton. Members worked hard and took first place in the play and costume categories.

Latin Club president Julie Metevier stated, "We participated in various contests in academics and art. All together we walked away with 42 ribbons."

The club had one of its busiest and most successful years ever. With many activities planned for next fall the Latin clubbers will have just as much fun.

During the 1981-82 school year, no Latin clubbers could be heard saying, "It's Greek to me!"

All you had to do was see the togas and the faces to realize that this group was serious about it's academics and its achievements.

¿Que Pasa? For the one hundred plus members of the Spanish club, there was plenty that went on during the 1981-82 school year.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Betty Montgomery, the club participated in over ten activities and parties.

Officers for the club were president, Suzanne Church; vice president, Sharon Harmon; secretary Theresa McGeehan; historian, Lisa Burgen; treasurer, Bridget Miller; and reporter, Mike Boner.

During the year, the club held several parties. Among these were both Halloween and Valentine's celebrations. Also, the club held a progressive dinner, scavenger hunt, and an ice skating trip to Prestonwood.

To finance their many activities and events, the club members sold 'Lake Highland's' notepads and had a very successful bake sale. With these two fund raisers, the Spanish club earned approkimately three hundred dollars.

Along with other foreign language clubs, the Spanish club participated in International Night, which took place in the student center. Also, the Spanish and French clubs held their annual Olympics and picnic.

"We try to have a variety of activities that will be fun and please all the members, and this year's officers were very effective in accomplishing this," stated sponsor, Betty Montgomery.

Activities continued throughout the year and went on until the graduating seniors left. The Spanish club banquet and the election of new officers were the final events of the extremely busy 1981-82 year.

With one of the largest and most successful foreign language clubs, the Spanish club once again achived a sucgreat year.

As the Spanish culture becomes increadingly important in Texas, the Spanish club is a fun and interesting way to learn more about our neighbors south of the border.

The sale of baked goods and Lake Highlands note pads provided funds for the many activities of the Spanish Club at Lake Highlands.

As you read through this book, scanning the memorable pictures and laughing at all the memories preserved here, have you ever considered who took the time and effort to coordinate and produce this book? It was the Wildcat yearbook staff.

All year long, the yearbook staff dealt with deadlines, pasteups, interviews, and publishers, guided and hassled by their sponsor Mr. Jim Davidson, and editor Julie Miller.

The staff worked hard and spent many long hours in order to cover every event, to get pictures taken, and to make sure that all work was finished by the final deadline - not an easy task.

Holding key positions on the staff were Julie Miller, editor-in-chief; Leah Starr, design editor; Shannon Hill, copy editor; Joanna Wilkerson, advertising editor; and Jay Turner, phoyography editor.

While the copy staff obtained information about what was happening at Lake Highlands, the photographers were busy trying to get a special picture or catch a great play, and the design staff was drawing up layouts to display the stories a the pictures. Teamwork proves successful for Fang Staff

Long Hours, Dedication Pay Off For Fang Staff

Extra! Extra! Read All About It! exclaimed the Fang staff as this group of hard working individuals researched and prepared Lake Highland's own newspaper.

The Fang staff worked together to report the special events, current items of interest, and local stories, free of charge to the student body. The hours spent preparing the paper were long and often very frustrating.

Editor Chris Ave worked with guidance from Mr. Jim Davidson to keep students up to date on what was happening and what was worth reading about at Lake Highlands during the 1981-82 school year. Chris commented,"Being editor presents a lot of responsibility but also many opportunities. I'm not going to have this kind of a chance to do what I like with a paper for a long time, if ever. I do plan to go into journalism, and this gives me needed experience."

The newspaper was prepared through a combination of efforts. Along with Chris were Martha Tyree, managing editor; Trace Etienne, feature editor; Cliff Stricklin, sports editor; and Ray Dunn, photography editor. They worked with reporters, photographers, and designers to bring interesting news stories to Lake Highlands students. All of the Advertising was coordinated and pasted up by advertising editor Jenny Anderson.

The paper was very informative and kept students up to date or often made them aware of special events and opportunities that they did not previously know about. Reporter Shannon Lavender commented, "I enjoyed keeping students up to date and was glad for the opportunity to learn about a paper."

Althoughthere were some organizational problems toward the first of the year, the combined efforts of the editors and Mr. Davidson quickly took care of the problems. Thanks to the dedication of the Fang staff, students at Lake Highlands found that keeping up with the local and school news was an easy task.

The Fang staff had to overcome some problems early in the year, but eventually settled down to produce a quality publication.

The Art Club was one of the numerous opportunities at Lake Highlands for talented students to express themselves.

For the artictically inclined student the Art Club offered trips to museums, learning new art techniques through workshops, such as marbeling, and participating in a service project.

The 1981-82 service project was to re-d0 the day boards which were a source of information for the patients of Doctors Nursing Home. The club also painted murals for the school's Athletic Department in the locker and weight rooms.

The Art Club was sponsored by Mrs. Susan Harris. The officers were President, Trey Senn; Vice-President Cindy Tittle, Secretary-Treasurer Ray Dunn and Susan Mathis.

Along with their regular meetings, workshops and field trips, the active members enjoyed many parties throughout the year. The parties included a Welcome New Members Party at Cindy Tittle's house, a party at Chucky Cheeses, a Christmas social, a spring picnic, and an end of the year banquet.

Vice President Cindy Tittle stated that everyone had a good time in Art Club and really enjoyed all the events. Her opinion seemed to be one expressed by many Art Club members.

Quill and Scroll is the International Honor Society for High School journalists. In order to become a member of Quill and Scroll, a student must distinguish himself in the field of high school journalism, be of high moral character, be in the upper one-fourth of his class, be of at least junior standing, be recommended by the yearbook or newspaper adviser at the school, and be approved by the executive secretary of the international association.

Those approved for membership this year were Chris Ave, Martha Tyree, Shannon Lavender, Keith Whitmire, Doug Blount, Pam Castleberry, Julie Miller, Leah Starr, Eric Chandler, Joanna Wilkerson, and Larry McGuire.

While Quill and Scroll was only an honorary organization, the Art Club was very active in providing services for others.

"Comment allez-vouz?"

This question may have sounded foreign to some students at Lake Highlands but not to the members of the American Field Service. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Katherine Weber, brought Nicolas Polin, an exchange student from France, to Lake Highlands.

Mrs. Weber, sponsor of the club for two years, said AFS was operated to "further the association between countries and people so individuals of all countries get to know each other."

The club met on Thursday mornings at 8:00 primarily to plan the year's two fund raisers, the student directory and the International Food Festival on Feb. 4.

AFS treasurer Laura McAfee stated, "Through AFS I have learned so much about myself and foreign countries. I have met so many interesting people." Laura was one of eight students chosen to go abroad and live with a selected family in a foreign country.

AFS sponsored American students from all over the country. Closer to home, members of FCA, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, were involved in many meetings.

FCA is a nationwide organization with over 650,000 members. The girls' and boys' FCA sponsors were gymnastics coach Miss Denise Jones and Coaches Dennis Perkins and Jimmy Roe.

Girls FCA president Donna Cummins said, "This year's attendance was less than in years past, but it is still a great organization."

Meetings were held at different members homes and each usually presented a guest speaker. The first meeting of the year was a banana split party at Missy Jones' house. The guest speaker was Neil Jeffries, a former Baylor football players and a born-again Christian.

Junior Patty Wren, a member for three years, commented, "It's a great organization where I've met a lot of new people."

Would you like to sit back and enjoy a good movie or curl up to a good book? Two Lake Highlands clubs provided such entertainment. Fantastic Cinema Productions (FCP) and the senior publication, the Pub, were established to teach and sometimes to satirize.

Fantastic Cinema Productions is a relatively new club, chartered in 1979. The club had a productive year. FCP's main purpose is to teach students the art of film-making, and the club's members were very creative in their work.

FCP Sponsor Patti Blide commented, "Our main purpose is to familiarize students with the (film) industry. We want to give everyone a chance to learn about it."

The annual senior publication, the Pub, was passed out in mid May. Students paid three dollars for an issue of the magazine.

Under the direction and supervision of sponsors Dot Biggs and Betsy Vandement, the approximately twenty-five members had fun poking fun at teachers and students alike. This year's Pub theme was "The Pub Goes to the Movies."

One of the most memorable articles was "Jimmie and the Plaids," in which Mr. Fountain and all of the other principals were dressed in plaid and were depicted as members of a rock group.

Working on the Pub was a great honor for students, as they are selected from a wide array of applications.

Pub photographe Greg Thomas said o his work on the Pub "Working on the Pu was one of the bes parts of my senio year. It's great makin fun of the teacher and not getting i trouble for it!"

Money for th making of the Pu came exclusively fro Pub sales an donations from loca businesses, similar t that of the yearbook.

Though the censor went wild with thi year's Pub, and muc of the things tha caused amusement a Pub brainstormin sessions was brutall cut from their copy the Pub member produced a humorou and entertainin magazine.

Both of these club were active and suc cessful during th 1981-82 school year.

Both groups were seeking to amaze their audiences with their productions, and both succeeded by producing "I can't believe it" reactions.

The Key Club, largest co-ed service club at Lake Highlands, continued its tradition of outstanding fundraising and excitement during the 1981-82 school year. Sponsored by Kiwanis of Dallas and Mrs. Clare Branner, Key Clubbers met every Thursday in the Patio Study Hall after school.

Officers of the club were Craig Holloway, president; Tracy Higgins, vice president; Stacy Evert, secretary, and Randy Boston, treasurer.

The Key Club Bell Boys, who took the bell all the way to the Astrodome this year, were David Depew, Gary Boone, Randy Boston, and John Crisman.

Among their projects, one of their favorites was the March of Dimes Haunted House. Key Clubbers worked diligently on weekends and after school decorating their "Canibal Room" with a human stew cauldron, cave walls, dead bodies, and a stabbing demonstration.

On a gentler note, members also enjoyed Christmas caroling and working with elderly people at the Doctors Nursing Home. Everyone agreed that participation in their bingo game and organizing a Valentine party brought a real feeling of satisfaction to the Senior Citizens.

Night meetings with speakers from the Kiwanis Club and attending church were regular activities. The State Key Club spring convention was held at the Amfac Hotel at DFW Airport during the Weekend of April 30-May 1. Key Clubbers spent the weekend there and joined in discussions and seminars. It was a memorable experience, officers felt, as was the whole year in general. New officers were elected in February and their terms began on May 1.

Although attendance dwindled, loyal members felt that they were effective and hoped that many people would join next year because the Key Club has a lot to offer, but can only operate at its maximum with full participation from everyone.

With the March of Dimes Haunted House and working with the elderly as their primary projects Key Club members enjoyed their year.

'Sound of Music' Highlight Year For Theatre LHHS

"The hills are alive with the sound of music." The popular Lake Highlands musical was brought alive by members of a very special club, Theatre LHHS. The club had one of the busiest seasons of all time this year. THey performed such plays as Jabberwock, Tevya and his Daughters, and the 1982 musical The Sound of Music.

Performers and technicians alike staged a terrific year in Theatre LHHS. For the approximately 100 people involved in Jabberwock, The Sound of Music, or Tevya and His Daughters, the club provided lots of fun. Sponsored by Mrs. Nancy Poynter, officers were Todd Savell, managing director, Jana Johnson, technical director, Kerry Kirschbraun, business manager, Tom Cook, publicity director, Liz Rosen, program director, and Janell King, historian.

Theatre LHHS, comprised of drama and non-drama students, was under the direction of sponsor Nancy Poynter. This group of thespians held monthly meetings to discuss upcoming projects. Dues for the year were two dollars. This fee helped pay for stage equipment and the annual Awards Banquet at the end of the year.

The club congregated about once a month. Regular meetings were not that important because the club's purpose was to oversee theater productions as parent organizatior Their major activity the year was an awa ds banquet at the O Spaghetti Warehous on May 16. Hon Thespians initiated this ceremony we Todd Savell, Jar Johnson, Kerry Ki schbraun, Janell Kin Wendy Brown, ar Mike Hachtman.

There was more to Theatre LHHS than just th drama productions, but they were definitely th highlights of the year for the club.

Others to receive awards were David Depew, Laura Chicchi, Donya Duggleby, Bobby Romano, and James Roberts. Mrs. Poynter commented, "I am proud of their accomplishments, and they have every reason to share in the pride."

The Sound of Music starred seniors Wendy Brown and Todd Savell as leads Maria and Captain Von-Trapp, and Janell King as the Mother Superior. THe musical was a large success due to the dedication of all members of the cast. Some of the most memorable scenes included the Von-Trapp children who sang "So Long, Farewell."

This year's first drama production, Jabberwock, was performed in the LHHS auditorium on November 5th and 7th.

The two act play featured Billy Patterson, senior, as Jamie Thurber, a young boy searching for identity during World War I. Kerry Kirschbraun, senior, portrayed the character of Mary Agnes Thurber in the production. Todd Savell played the role of Grandpa Fisher, an old man who lapses occasionally back into the Civil War days. The play was about the life of the Thurber family.

Senior cast member Laura Chicchi commented, "This play was alot of fun to do because most all of us (Theatre LHHS members) got to be in it."

This year, as in years past, Theatre LHHS presented a one-act play entitled Tevya and his Daughters. The play was not publicly presented, but was entered in UIL competition.

Junior cast member Shannon Lavender said of the play, "I was really exited to be in it. I was honored more than anything."

Theatre LHHS is unique in the fact that members do not have to be in any Lake Highlands drama classes. Members simply pay dues at the beginning of the year.

All of this year's Theatre LHHS productions were a big hit with LH and non-LH audiences alike. With all of this year's success, next year's group is going to have a tough act to follow.

"All the world's a stage and the men and women are merely players."

William Shakespeare couldn't have said it better. The Lake Highlands speech club Encore started off the year with a schedule full of tournaments. Club president was Shelley Gibson, vice president was Shannon Lavender, secretary was Kelly Bradley, and social chairman was Chris Ave.

The club, sponsored by Ann Kizer, had thirty members and traveled to Friday and Saturday tournaments at Newman-Smith, R.L. Turner, St. Mark's, and to UIL competition.

Members practiced with their own material before and after school, and attended a fifth period tournament class as well. Members also had parties to "keep spirit up." Although the team was close, spirit was not as prevalent as in years past.

"The speech team doesn't get enough support," commented junior Encore vice president Shannon Lavender. "It's really a shame, we have so much good talent."

The group made over 1600 dollars for their out of town trip, but the money will probably be be used to purchase audio equipment due to the absence of Mrs. Kizer, who took time off this year to have a baby.

"We started out strong, but then people began to lose interest. Mrs. Kizer is a big part of Encore and we were kind of lost without her," stated senior Chris Ave.

Encore is unique from other speech clubs because of the fact that it focuses more on tournaments than performances. The team traveled frequently to many places to promote their multitudeled talented group. A large portion of this year's Encore group plans to return in the next school year for the1982-83 season. With the return of so many members and the brilliant organizational talent and inspiration of sponsor Ann Kizer next year will be even better for the Encore club.

How many rooms are there in Lake Highlands High School and what nationality are the janitors?

These questions may seem preposterous to some and others may find them difficult to answer, but more than but more than likely one of the four members of the Lake Highlands Whiz Quiz team could answer them. This was the teams first year of competition, but it certainly won't be the last.

Under the direction of sponsors Linda Hastings and Dot Biggs, the four member team consisting of Greg Gatlin, Raghu Ramachandran, Crystal Davis, and captain Kevin Cabaniss, had an excellent year. The team finished the year with a 3-1 record, the only loss being to the Arts Magnet School of Dallas with a score of 295-215. In its first year of competition, the team set the record for the highest number of points,415, scored in one competition.

Junior member Crystal Davis Commented, "The only thing we need to work on is hitting the buzzer first."

Lake Highlands Whiz Quiz team competes with other North Dallas schools on various topics. These include: history, literature, science, math, music, and trivia questions in a game show format. The questions are based on a point system and the winning team is eligible for a scholarship award. It takes practice, dedication, and knowledge of a wide variety of subjects to become a successful team member.

Lake Highlands has a bank of trivia questions, and sample questions are taken from this bank during practices. Mock scrimmages were held every Friday morning before school with students quizzing the teachers on a wide variety of topics.

Lake Highlands' Whiz Quiz team did a great job this year with a great record. Sponsor Dot Biggs commented on the year, "The kids did a fantastic job, I can't wait for next year's group!"

In their first year they set a record for most points in a single round and finished the year with a very creditable 3-1 season record.

One of the most unique organizations at Lake Highlands was the MACRO Club, which stands for Microprocessor and Computer Research Organization.

The purpose of the club was to get a group of students interested in furthering their knowledge of computers and computer systems through direct contact with computer related activities.

This was only the second year for MACRO at Lake Highlands. Most of the members were seniors, like Ray Dunn, president, and Mike Dagate, vice-president. Ray stated that with hard work and cooperation among the members, he expected MACRO to become an enjoyable and educational club for interested members.

Since computers are becoming more and more significant in everyday life, members of MACRO were happy to have the opportunity to learn more about computers and their functions.

Also interested in the principles of everyday life, the Physics Research Order was a club in the pursuit of the understanding of their world. Members were exclusively made up of the ten members of the Advanced Placement Physics class. Officers of the club were Kevin Williams-pres., Mike Cramer-V.P., Tracy Higgins-sec., Julia Miller-treas. The other members of the club each had their own minor office, and helped in the organization of any club function. Members of the club traveled to two physics seminars during the school year, and had a dinner party at Julia Miller's house. They spent an hour each week in lab, performing experiments relevant to the subjects they studied. It was an enjoyable year.

PRO carried their study of physics further than the classroom, while MACRO learned and played games on LH computers.

The group held meetings, took field trips to Rockwell Industries, Richland College, and Six Flags, plus computer shows, had adventure nights, and a picnic. Their major project was a MACRO Match which was a match-up system for Valentines Day, matching compatible students who purchased and completed questionnaires.

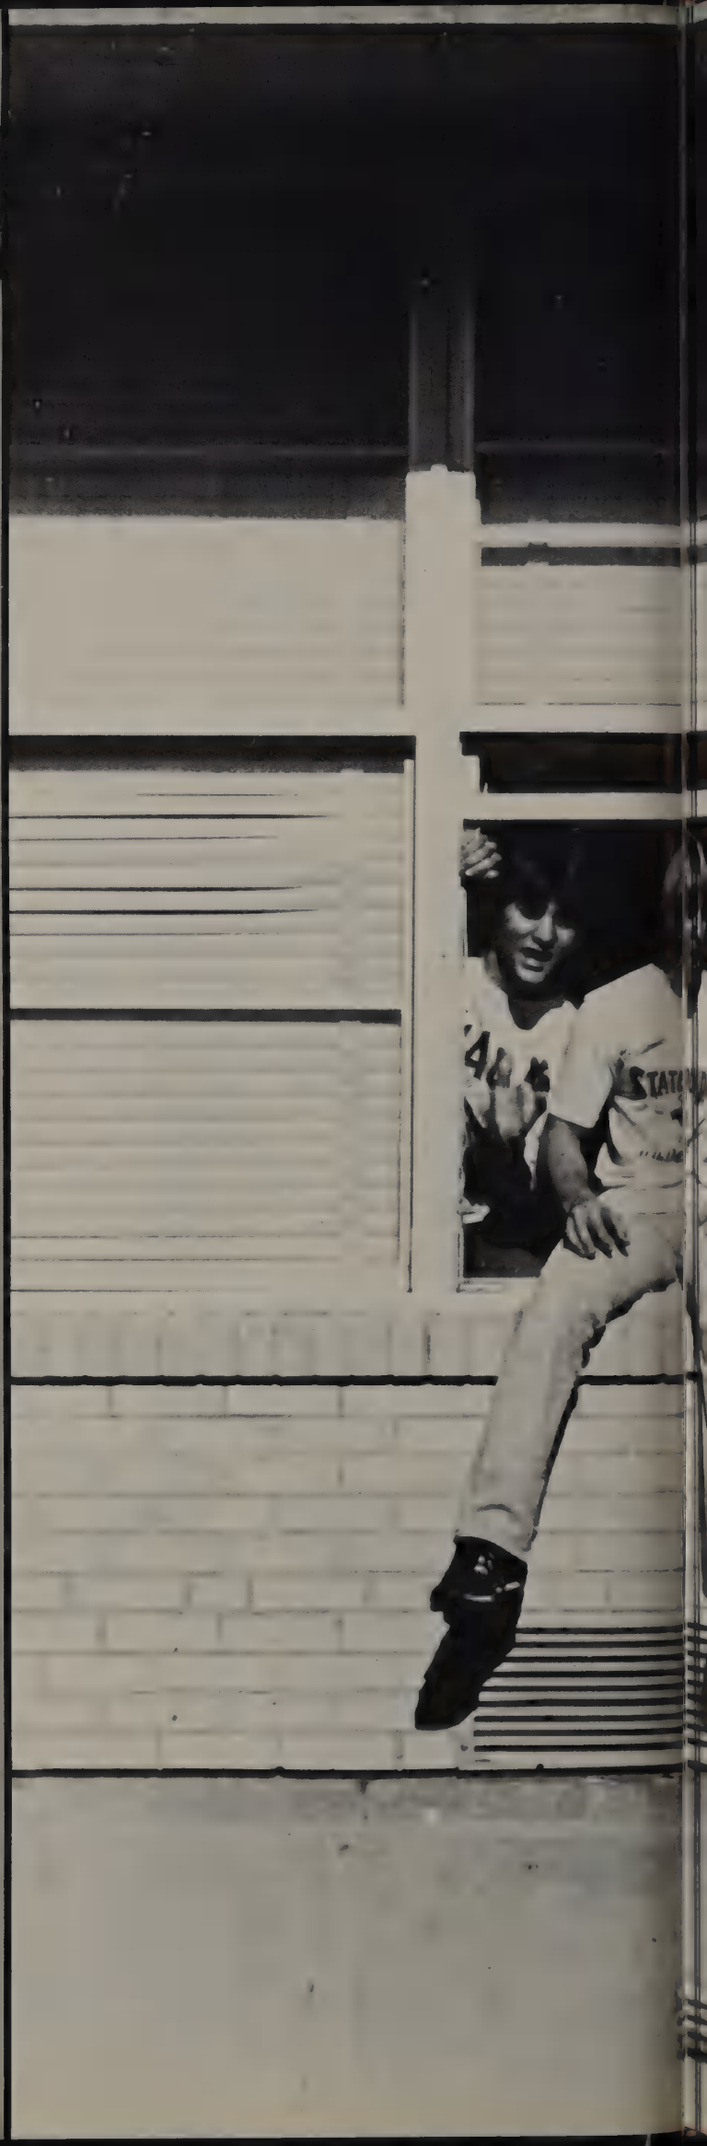
Get Radical! Names, Faces

People - They Were All Individuals

People were Lake Highlands. The identity of each individual contributed to the total personality of the school, and made it the radical entity it grew to be. Though certain excessively radical individuals stood out in the crowd, there was not a single soul who was not one hundred percent behind their school during this year of State Championships. Spirit was at an all time high, participation was at an amazingly high level, and in the halls was an intangible but undeniably distinguishable bond of unity and even loyalty. Each class was the most supportive of its' self, yet everyone seemed to come together to back the school in any district or state activity in which Lake Highlands was represented.

People With Spirit
Teachers, Norma Baird and Barbara Frye show that they have just as much spirit as anyone else by banging on empty coffee cans at the state pep rally. The teachers supported the football team and the entire school throughout the year by attending pep rallies similar to this one.

"Hanging Out"
Paul Rotello, Chris Knoll, and Neil Niche, seniors, "hang out" the windows during the aftermath of exitement and anticipation that followed the Plano pep rally. Cheers rallyed back and forth across the courtyards in all three halls for an hour.



Friendly Joking
Principals Mr. Jimmie Fountain and Kenneth Pearce joke with Mr. James Caldwell in the front of the school near the senior office, a place where the principals liked to stand around and watch students pass by on their way to classes.

Guarding
Mr. Kenneth Pearce, senior principal, cracks a rare smile while performing hall duty by the student center doors at lunch. Mr. Pearce was in charge of all senior discipline and activities.

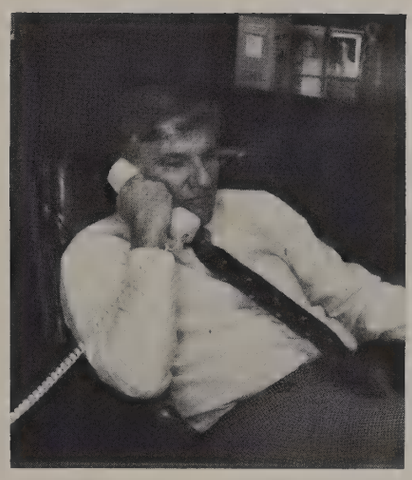
Business Endeavors
Mr. James Caldwell, junior class principal, inspects a summons, pen in hand, while he answers a verbal call from the outer office and writes another summons. Paperwork and desk work took up much time and effort.

Five Qualified Men Take Charge Of Entire Operation OF Lake Highlands

Although the year was a difficult one in many respects, Mr. Fountain said this was his best year ever at LH

Five qualified men were in charge of every aspect and activity at Lake Highlands during the 1981-82 year.

Hearings and accusations did not prevent Mr. Jimmie Fountain from running the school expertly, as only he knew how. Community, faculty, and students supported this, my best overall year, at Lake Highlands," stated Mr. Fountain. This year marks his sixth year at L.H., and his thirtieth year in the school system. In charge of special services was Mr. Owen Pyles. He also headed up by all pep rallies, preregistration, fund raising and teacher evaluations. 1981-82 ended his sixth year at Lake Highlands and"a very good year with more supportive community and student body," stated Mr. Pyles.

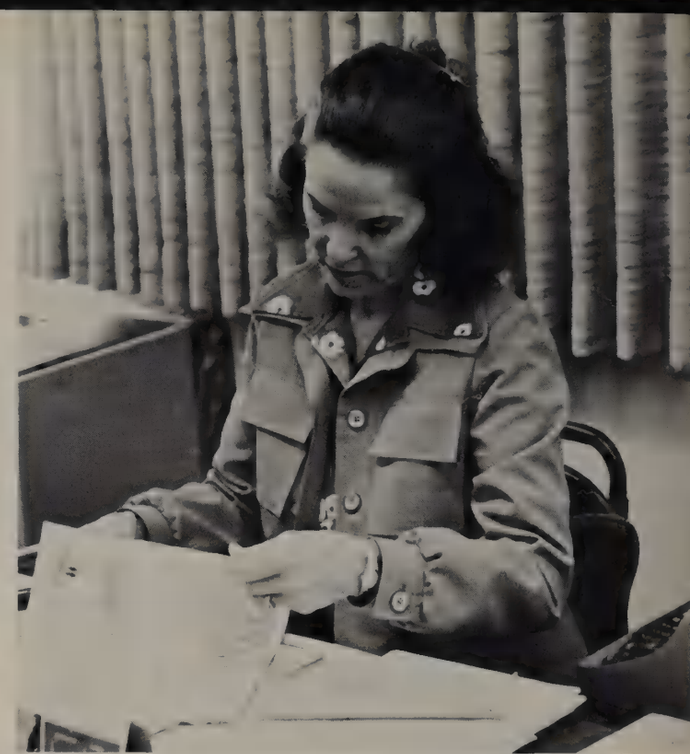


Phoning
Principal Jimmie Fountain takes care of business on the telephone in his office. Much everyday work was taken care of thanks to Bell Telephone.

Senior academics, activities, and discipline were the responsibilities of Mr. Kenneth Pearce. All custodial work and keys to the building were also among his duties. "I feel we have one of the best instuctional staffs in the R.I.S.D.,"stated Mr. Pearce about the faculty at Lake Highlands. The newest edition to the administrative staff was Mr. Chuck Carona, who transfered from Lake Highlands Junior High. Among his difficult duties was the disciplining of the sophomore class. "High school and Junior high are extremely different, but I have really enjoyed my first year at Lake Highlands," commented Mr. Carona.

James Caldwell moved from working with sophomores last year to working with juniors during the 1981-82 school year. Mr. Caldwell also worked with both disciplinary and academic problems of the juniors during the year.

They did not just hand out detentions and have lunch duty, they were the men who ran the school with such extreme smoothness. Making Lake Highlands the best it could be was their main job, and they performed it to the best of their abilities. Their duties were important to the benefit of the school, and they made sure that everything they did made Lake Highlands High School the "Best in the entire State of Texas," which, of course, it was.



Busy Bee
Ruth Montgomery, the counselor's secretary was kept constantly busy sending for seniors and sending out seniors' transcripts.

College Bound Secretary
Mrs. Stahl, a secretary in the Guidance Office, was kept busy by filling out and mailing transcripts for college bound seniors.

Office Operator
Mrs. Rita Greenfield provided assistance for persons wishing to contact students or teachers during school hours.

Secretaries handle day to day routine in helping LH run like clockwork

Most students don't know their names, but the ladies who handle the secretarial chores are invaluable to LH

They did not exactly work 9 to 5, and they were not exactly Dolly Partons, but they were the Lake Highlands secretaries and they did enable Lake Highlands to run more efficiently.

Mrs. Lennox, Mr. Fountain's right hand "man", has worked at L.H. for eleven years. "I love my job and I especially enjoy the faculty and students," stated Mrs. Lennox. She not only took care of any business for Mr. Fountain, but she also handled the athletic funds and planned the Wildcat Club's "All Sports Banquet."

Seldom Shocked
Junior secretary Paula Hanon was seldom surprised by the junior class, but as her expression proved, there were always some exceptions.

In the senior office, Carol Reese and Eve Dunigan were kept busy not only with typing and filing, but with their constant relations with students. Their responsibilities consisted of attendance for seniors, selling football tickets, and sorting mail for the faculty. "We are kept extremely busy, and there is always something to do," commented Mrs. Reese.

Down the hall from the senior office sat Paula Hannon, the secretary in the junior office. Mrs. Hannon was kept busy checking juniors in and out, typing for Mr. Caldwell, and recording the attendance for the state.

Mrs. Rochelle Truitt was the sophomore secretary. Among her duties, she handled the absences for the sophomores, accepts calls and messages, and is Mr. Carona's secretary.

In the counselor's office, Mrs. Stahl and Mrs. Montgomery were the busy bees. Mrs. Stahl not only filled out transcripts for college bound seniors, but she also collected money for the college entrance exams and returned the scores to students. Mrs. Montgomery performed secretarial duties such as typing and filing for the counselors.

The most original jobs were held by Mrs. Fountain and Mrs. Greenfield. Mrs. Fountain ran the switchboard and was in constant touch with people calling the school. Mrs. Greenfield filled in wherever she was needed, as a floater.

They may not have worked from 9 to 5, but they did work from eight to three-thirty, and they might not have been Dolly Partons, but they were the L.H. secretaries and they helped L.H. to run smoothly.

Matlock 'Watches' Time Go BY With Watches for All Occasions

With over 30 watches, she never lacks for time

Ms. Donna Matlock, senior English and composition teacher, as well as the director for the Senior Show, The Magic of 82, received a quartz watch from the 1981 cast as a token of their appreciation. Somehow, it seemed only appropriate because the theme of their Senior Show was As Time Goes By, and Ms. Matlock is an avid collector of wristwatches, especially ones which are antique. That quartz one, which she uses as an everyday watch, brings her collection to the extravagant number of approximately thirty. "Most of them are gifts from my family," she explained. "I've received a watch at Christmas for about eight years now, and that is what makes them special to me-- they're gifts."

Her collection stems from an interest in antiques and clocks, and her collection consists predominately of European watches, "novelty" ones that have rotating colors instead of numbers. Within her collection is a very nice watch of diamond that she has owned since she was eighteen years of age, and the three that she uses as everyday time pieces.

So, does Ms. Matlock wake up every morning and wind thirty-eight watches? "No," she laughed, "most of them just stay in my jewelry drawer until I decide to get one out to where." Watch collecting is certainly an interesting hobby, though expensive, though when the watches are gifts it makes it much easier on the finances. To someone, like Donna Matlock, who enjoys both antiques and timepeices so much, it is definately a worthwhile collection.

Mrs. Sue Passmore Gets Above Average Grades From Students

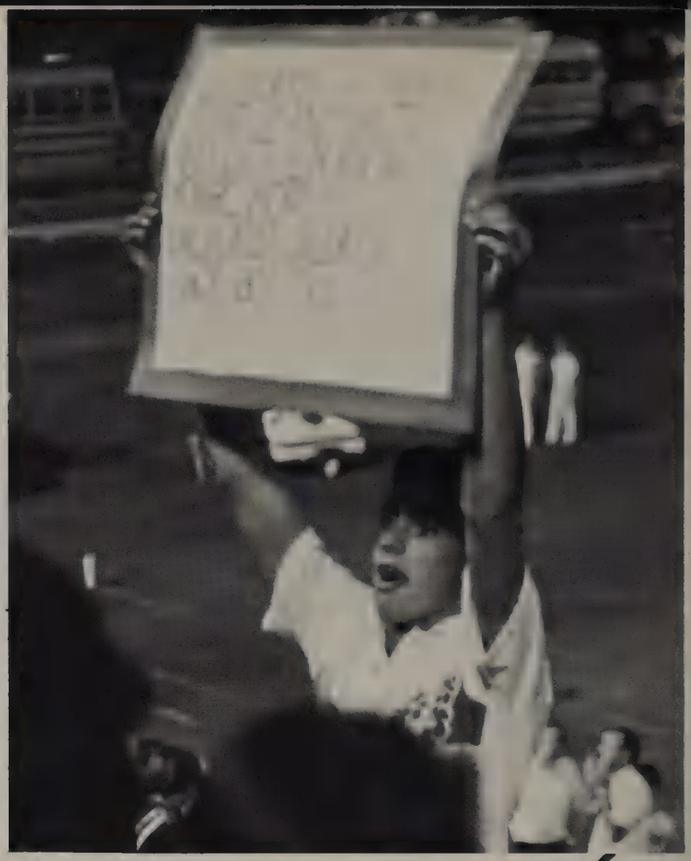
Although teaching is hard she likes to keep busy

"I look forward to coming to school," Mrs. Sue Passmore stated enthusiastically. "The atmosphere is pleasant, fun and rewarding. But I have to admit I'm prejudiced. I'll always think lake Highlands is the best!" She has been teaching at Lake Highlands since October of 1968 to 1976 when she chose to become a full time mother to her children, Jeff and Julie. At the present, she is teaching Honors English III and Composition but she has also taught French, World History, and Geography.

Outside of school Mrs. Passmore is an avid football fan. Her favorite teams are, of course the Wildcats and the Cowboys. Other activities include working as the Democratic Precinct Chairman and serving as president of the Dallas Girls Chorus, to which Julie belongs.

Although her main ambition as a child was to become a nurse, Mrs. Passmore's teaching and education and her career choice is one she's never regretted. Her husband is principal at Merriman Park Elementary and she is a member of three PTA's, including faculty representative to the LHHS PTA. Mrs Passmore thinks Lake Highlands is a great place to raise a family and feels that the student body is "very positive with above average goals." Most will agree that Sue Passmore is an above average teacher and a very positive force.

Gerunds on a Stilt
Demonstrating her knack for English, Mrs. Sue Passmore makes the point with the help of her chalkboard while her Honors English III class ponders complex sentences.



Go! Go! Go!

Holding up a sign with a cheer printed on it, Rob Christiano, senior, rallies th e crowd to show their spirit at one of the home games. The senior men helped the cheerleaders in keeping LH spirit high.

Officers With Class

The senior Class Officers were representative of the typical Lake Highlands student. The seniors elected for these positions were Chip Bratten, VP; Chris Ave, Rep.; Jeff McGehee, Treas.; Mike Hachtman, Pres.; and Heather Blanton, Sec. The officers were responsible for the organization of and the selection of a location for prom.

Senior Favorites

Laurie Riley and Steve Hurst were announced as senior class favorites at the annual Favorites Ball held at the Holiday Inn Centre Plaza on LBJ.

It was great to finally be a senior, and the year we had was greater

Becoming a senior is what high school is all about, and our senior year was the best in the school's history

Spirit. Pride. Success. All of these words describe the senior class of 1982. They carried themselves through this last year of high school with a wave of glory never before seen at Lake Highlands High School. The senior Class Officers, president Mike Hachtman, vice president Chip Bratten, secretary Heather Blanton, treasurer Jeff McGehee, and representative Chris Ave, headed up a year that was both spectacular and meaningful. The financial success of the Senior Show, The Magic of 82, greatly aided the officers in their planning of the 1982 prom. The prom took place at the Dunfey Dallas Hotel, and the band Backstreet played music suitable to almost everyone's taste. The council also provided couples with excellant food , punch, and cold drinks for the dance.

Active
Participating in Young Life, Varsity Revue, Spring Show, and serving as a Highlandette officer were only some of the activities of senior Bev Turner.

Student Council Officers, president Todd Savell, vice president Lori McKee, tresurer Billy Patterson, secretary- Ann Gowan, and historian- Cliff Stricklin not only made the bookstore a raving success, but they added some life to the Homecoming Dance by changing it to a Saturday night, and by moving it to the student center.

The senior athletes were outstanding. The senior academic standings were better than ever before. The seniors themselves were unique individuals with interesting and varied personalities. Overall, there was simply not a better class to be found anywhere.

During their three years of high school, and for many, three years of junior high too, the class of 82 grew closer and closer. By the end of the State Championship football game, they were as close as any six hundred and ninety people could possibly be. Principals and teachers alike were all heard saying more than once during the year that, though it had been said before, this was truly the best year in Lake Highlands' history. And so it was, from start to finish, for it could only be assumed that the greatest class of all time would provide Lake Highlands with the greatest year of all time.

Horsin' Around

Debra Lockhart/Design

While some of us were spending our summer basking in the sun, working in a fast food places or just "crusin", senior Ellen McJunkin was in Shelbyville Tennessee. Ellen did not qualify as "Americas Average Teenager". At the age of six, Ellen began riding horses, and the Mc Junkins made her love for horses a family affair.

Ellen travels to such states as Alabama, Lousiana, Texas, and Tennessee to exhibit her Tennessee walking horses. Her favorite horse, Shocking Blue, won the Grand Championship of Horses in Shelbyville three years in a row.

As one may expect, Ellen's passion for horses took a lot of time, work, and dedication and money. She maintained a ranch in Van Alstyn, Texas and visited there every weekend. Ellen considered her involvement with horses a hobby but not a career. Ellen worked for what she has, and it is evident when she says of raising horses, "It's my favorite thing in life!"

Incomparable

The '82 Seniors have outclassed all previous classes, averages to championships.

Debra Lockhart/Design
Cindy Daley/Copy
Bobby White/Photos

As each class completes that climb to the top of the school and becomes the Senior Class, there exists an urge to be the best Senior Class ever.

This year's class had more National Merit Scholarship finalists than any other class and the top ranked students have exceptionally high grade point averages.

Away from the academic scene, the football team could not have hoped for a better season. The cross country team, swimmers, gymnasts, wrestlers, and tennis players all did well also.

This years school spirit was at an all time high, and the Senior class was very proud. To show their spirit they repainted the tressle and a large group was at every game cheering, yelling and supporting the team with all of their energy.

Winning awards, keeping up spirit, setting a good example, the 1982 seniors will be a hard act to follow.

Seniors Superior

The seniors won the hall decorating contest during the week before the State Championship hands down. The hall was transformed into a "Road to State."

L.H. students, can recall many embarrassing moments from the first-grade tear jerkers to the un printable "preferred anonymous" ones. Some seniors remember when Cliff Stricklin took a dare as a sophmore and stood on the Highlandettes' table and screamed "Who wants me?" Senior Rita Hanks was embarassed when she ran hurriedly into the rest room at Target and, as she was coming out, she passed a man and realized she'd been in the men's room.

Melanie Hartzell was humiliated when she dropped an offering plate on a marble floor during a Baptismal ceremony and money scattered everywhere.

Students also noted slipping on slime in the middle of the student center, and forgetting to zip their pants as regular high school embarrassments.

Everyone has been there and will be there again -- so keep up the old chin and don't be embarrassed!

Get Me Out of Here!
Senior Gregor Ulteig is caught in the act. His little mistake, a wrong turn into the girls' restroom, could be a big embarassment.

Disgusting!!!

Don't you detest that habit? It's the only thing you can't seem to get rid of.

Were you ever totally disgusted by the annoying habits of your friends? Knuckle cracking, pencil tapping and chewing, and fingernail biting were among the most popular and common of LH students' habits. Students also acquired such habits as straw chewing and dipping.

Senior Susan Randuk was an avid straw chewer. She was seen coming out of Jack in the Box or McDonald's on numerous occasions with a straw hanging out of her mouth. When questioned about this unusual habit, Susan answered, "It gives me something to do."

Tony Liscio, a dipper, was often seen with a pinch between his cheek and gums. Tony said that he dips because it relaxes him, and, believe it or not, he actually enjoys the taste.

Everyone has them; some can't quit, some wish they could, and some have, but one thing is for sure: as soon as one habit's kicked it will be replaced by another!

Marathon Man

is what they call him. He crosses country with determination and willpower.

Joanna Wilkerson/Design
Mike Marsh/Copy
Bobby White/Photos

Greg Courtwright was just a little bit different from the typical LHHS student: his extracurricular activity was running the grueling marathon.

He trained up to 105 miles a week in his training, but Greg didn't mind a bit. "I had to sacrifice a lot! There was no question about it. For instance, staying out late. I liked to stay out late and party, but it just doesn't mix with hard training, so I had to make a sacrifice."

Greg had run one marathon to date, and timed 3 hours and 12 minutes in his debute in Scotsdale, Arizona.

Greg's got a long, tough road ahead of him and he's well on his way to making that road to success - perhaps the 1988 Olympics. Greg concluded, "If I've learned one thing from marathoning, it's that you've got to give 100 percent in everything you do in life. It's important!"

Runnin' In

Seen here rounding the penultimate bend and heading for the tape, Greg strains to finish as far ahead as possible.

T's Unlimited

We sported an infinite variety of t-shirts with a multitude of sayings, styles, colors.

A number of original and interesting "t-shirts" were seen around the high school this year.

While many proclaimed personal messages and slogans, others had the inscriptions of popular rock groups on them. Among the most common were the Rolling Stones, Journey, Rush and the ever popular Doobie Brothers.

Popular eating places were also the subject of many a t-shirt, with Madison's Chili's and Bennigan's topping the list. As always, there were the many University t-shirts with Texas and Texas A&M leading the pack.

Junior Eric Brown's "combat fatique" t-shirt, adorned with camoflauge, and containing the letters "Q.M.T.C." (symbolizing Eric's track team, the Quality Miles Track Club) was probably the most original. Thank goodness for one thing, "J.R." t-shirts were on a steep decline! Whew!

The Twirlybird

It's not a bird, or a plane, or even a flying saucer, but Leslie Wilson's whirling baton.

Tina Stepcick/Design

Again the baton flew up higher and higher, then fell into the steady hands of Lake Highlands twirler, Leslie Wilson. Leslie's twirling accuracy came from ten years of twirling experience, practicing about an hour and a half a day, and private twirling lessons for an hour once a week.

When asked how much she enjoyed twirling Leslie answered, "I love it, if I didn't I would never put up with the long hours of practicing and I probably would have quit after the first lump on my head."

Leslie performed at half time shows and band competition. The hardest part of being the only twirler, Leslie said, was disciplining herself to practice and staying motivated for the entire football season.

After graduation, Leslie hopes to twirl for a college. Realizing the competition will be very tough, Leslie commented, "I've been working so long that I'm going to give it my best shot."

Baton Girl
Twirler Leslie Wilson, senior, does her routine in front of the band during a Texas Stadium half time show. Leslie performed in all of the band's shows during the year.

Double Take

If two heads are better than one, are two identical heads twice as good as that???

Susan Wehe/Design
Liz Teter/Copy

What has four eyes, two mouths, and twenty digits with the last name Jenkins? Lisa and Tisa are two L.H. seniors who claim something that most students cannot claim - they're twins.

They aren't any different than most students. They both like to talk on the phone, to bowl, to dance, and, of course, boys. Lisa and Tisa plan to attend Stephen F. Austin in the fall. They both, however, have one pet peeve: when people ask "which one are you?" Lisa commented "We are each an individual and should not be thought of as one."

Though the pair made it clear that they were both individualists, when asked if they had their choices if they would rather be only children, they both replied emphatically, "Definitely Not! We are thankful for the relationship we have as sisters."

Double Vision
Tisa and Lisa Jenkins are two seniors who may look alike, but they certainly don't act alike. Taste in clothes, however, is not one of their differences.

Big Decisions

Sophomores wander about while seniors wonder about what colleges they will be attending

There are many reasons why students favor one college over another. Overall, students at LH seem to like the University of Texas, Baylor, Texas Tech, and Texas A&M best.

Laurie Riley, senior, stated that she likes UT because, "It's a good school and it's well-known." Cliff Stricklin says he likes Baylor because, "It's not too big and it's not too small." Baylor is another popular choice because of the four to one girl to guy ratio, and because it's not too far from Dallas and other major cities in Texas.

Many students, such as Stuart Raetzman, feel that "a degree from Tech is good." Another favorite is Texas A&M. Many students want to go to A&M because their parents or brothers and sisters went there, but Cathy Smith wants to go because of "those great looking Aggie guys!"

There are many favorite colleges in Texas, but LH students seem to be picking those which are well-known and fun too!

Let's Rock

"I know it's only rock and roll but I like it," was the opinion of most concert goers.

Susan Wehe/Design

Searching for the perfect concert seat was the quest of quite a few Lake Highland's students. "Camping out" and waiting in never-ending lines became common place for those who wished to see their favorite groups perform in person. Some succeeded in their quests, while others did not.

"I went out to buy four tickets, took one look at the line and said "forget it", said senior Roger Enlow of his attempt to get tickets to the Rolling Stones

"It was absolutely the best concert ever," stated junior David Caldwell, and the warm-up band, ZZ Top, was fantastic, too!"

Other top-class concerts were Journey, Van Halen, Foreigner, and Devo.

Along with rock and roll, the popular "kicker" groups also appeared, such as Alabama, Kenny Rogers, Willie Nelson and the Gatlin Brothers.

Steve Taylor summed it up all too well, "It's just hard to beat Dallas for concerts of any kind."

Journey* Rocks
Ross Vallory, bass guitarist for Journey, does his part in electrifying the 30,000 on hand to hear the group from the "city by the bay."

Class Officers

Our Favorites

Christy Jeffers and Bobby Kinder were selected by the junior class as the junior favorites. They were presented at the dance, where eveyone found out the identity of the winners. Christy reeived a rose for her election.

Concert Time at School

Bill Brooks, lead singer for the band Backstreet and a former graduate of Lake Highlands, performed for the entire student body with his band at a pay assembly sponsored by the junior class officers. The concert was a roaring success.

Juniors contribute to making 1982 a very memorable year for everyone

Although juniors had to sometimes search for their identity, they were able to overcome adversity and contribute

Although the seniors of '82 achieved great success, the juniors proved that "Seniors '83 are Best."

In a school full of high achievers and victories, the junior class contributed more than their share to the memorable year. With seven juniors on the State Championship football team, twenty-nine Highlandettes and seven junior girls who were Varsity Cheerleaders, the "radical" Lake Highlands spirit was extremely great within the Class of '83.

Junior Whiz
Alan Hendrickson, junior, recieves an award for excellance in math and science at the Awards Assembly at the end of the year.

Led by experienced officers, the juniors were able to have several fund raisers, sponsor a victory dance, and provide spirit signs for the pep rallies. Junior class officers for the 1981-82 year were president Sam Scheuber, vice president Suzy Carroll, secretary Beth Williams, treasurer Julie Hearne, and representative Tracy Boyden. Also aiding the class officers was the junior board, which helped in all of the activities of the junior class.

The most popular assembly of the year was a performance given by the group "Backstreet," who has their own club in Dallas. One of the members of the band was a graduate of Lake Highland's High School, and they enjoyed themselves as much as the students enjoyed them. The money from this activity will be used by the juniors to help finance their Senior Prom next year.

Along with "Backstreet," there were various fund raising events that enabled them to raise approximately five hundred dollars for the 1983 senior prom.

Junior Favorites for the year were Christy Jeffers and Bobby Kinder. Nominees were chosen by the junior class, and the winners were announced at the Favorites Dance.

Leadership for the 1982-83 year was chosen, as the sophomores and juniors elected Student Senate officers for the 1982-83 school year. President will be Scott Little, vice president Suzy Carroll, secretary Lori Farley, treasurer Rex Calvert, and historian Shannon Lavender.

The junior class included leaders, achievers, and hard workers, and with this combination, the "Class of '83" could not help but be the best.

Small Change
Leslie Haley, junior, buys carnations from DECA salesmen Mike Jones and Eric Veros. Small change really added up during the year at LH.

When Money Talks, Listen

We all love buying, but if you have to ask, you can't afford it

Susan Wehe/Design Jim Fiscus/Photos
Mike Marsh/Copy

"Money makes the world go around." Whether or not this quote is true is disputable, but there is no doubt that "the bucks" play a vital role in today's world, and most certainly at Lake Highlands High School.

Many people have that uncanny ability to save for what will be important in the future, whereas others seem to spend it as fast as they receive it.

"To tell the truth, I don't know where it all goes," stated junior Jay Robertson. "My mom tells me my money burns a hole in my pocket, and I guess she's right."

Seniors Greg Abbey, Cary Williams, and Thomas Hood worked at a job many teenagers over the United States are familiar with -- lawnmowing.

Some scrimped and saved, some "had holes in their pockets"; some worked hard, some took it easy, but one familiar question remained: "To spend or not to spend." Oh what a question!

Facing Tomorrow Today

It was an important part of an MIP student's career decision

Lori Potter/Copy

Not all Lake Highlands seniors spent their school day taking regular classes. For several hours a day a select group of students were involved in the Management Internship Program.

Rosemary Sullivan, who worked in felony court at the Courthouse said, "I liked it and felt the time it took was worth it."

Pam Alessio, also interested in international relations, worked at the Canadian Consolate.

Suzanne Church was able to learn about different aspects of each department within Childrens Medical Center.

Mike Cramer, Julie Miller, Perry Beck, Elizabeth Boyle. Susan Fager, Ellen Blum, and John Chrisman were the other students that participated in the M.I.P. program, a special opportunity at Lake Highland's.

Volunteering
Senior Suzanne Church, one of the participants in the MIP program, pauses during a busy afternoon at Children's Medical Center; where she interned.

Yankee Doodle
Mike Kay, a junior transfer student from Pennsylvania, loves LH, and says his favorite pastime is "camping out with the JV football team." Mike, perched high atop the building shouts, "Down South's where it's at!"

Texas: The Promised Land

The Lone Star State was home for many Northern families

It dated as far back as the Mason-Dixon line. The North and South engaged in the Civil War. L.H. students didn't have to cross enemy lines to get to 9449 Church Road in Dallas Texas.

"In my old school in Meadville, Pennsylvania, I knew every good looking girl there. At Lake Highlands I walk down the hall and see a new one everyday." Mike Kay said with an ear to ear grin.

Tim Bilyk, on the other hand, said, "Lake Highlands is smaller than my former school in North Wales, Pennsylvania and the people in Texas talk funny." When asked what his pet peeve about Dallas was, Mike simply answered "ants."

It appeared that two new Lake Highlands students have adjusted well to life in "Big D". All they lack now is a trip to Billy Bob's Texas, a ten gallon hat, and lessons to learn the Cotten-Eyed Joe!

She's Got a Cover Girl Look

Modeling is only her hobby; she has a bright future ahead

Tina Stepcick/Design

It's 5:00 a.m. Monday morning and unior Kim Westbrook forces herself ut of bed. She has a long day ahead f her with Highlandettes, school, ap-dancing lessons, GSL, and omework until midnight.

Somehow, she keeps going earning rades worthy of the National Honor ociety, participating in Sanger-larris Teen Board and tap dancing very Sunday at 8:00 a.m.

She started modeling during her reshman year with the Sarah Norton gency. It was expensive to get started, but she now earns $65 an hour. Kim doesn't plan to make modeling a career, although she'd like to continue through college, where she plans to study accounting. Although she leads a very busy life, Kim still makes time for things that are important to her, aside from her many responsibilities, and that may be why Kim Westbrook has a promising future ahead of her.

All That Jazz
Entertaining her fellow students with a tap dancing routine at Varsity Revue, Junior Kim Westbrook shows that many years of practice really does pay off.

State Bound
Karen Thomas, junior, and Kim Figge, sophomore, sit in anticipation ,as well as apprehension, on the airplane ride to Houston. The occasion was the State Championship game of Lake Highlands Wildcats vs. Houston Yates Lions. The place was the Astrodome in Houston, Texas. Emotions ran high, and though there was apprehension on the way to the game, there was nothing but cheers and screams on the way home.

Class Officers

Rubik's

Sophomore Chris Pike spends his break working with the Rubik's Cube. The practice payed off for Chris, as he was able to become a finalist in the Six Flags Rubik's Cube competition.

Keeping the Beat

Drum Line members John Parnell, Linda Watson, Robert Hobbs, Tony Miller, and Lse Huff keep spirit going at a steady pace at a pep rally.

Sophomores once again find themselves on bottom in high school

After being on top as freshmen, some sophomores had a hard time in making the adjustment to high school

It's 8:10 a.m. You pull into the parking lot, grab your books, and walk, head held high, into the school. You pass dozens of friends as you stroll down the spacious halls. On entering the student center (second only to the Old Town Tom Thumb for checking out the opposite sex) you enjoy a coke before first period. Yes, you are a SOPHOMORE! A stud... Junior high is Nothing. "Ha Ha Ha," you brag to those shrimpy freshmen filled with awe. "We don't need a pass to get into school early. We get a fifteen minute break to talk or eat or whatever. We can drive to school, have open campus twice a year, meet good looking seniors, have dances after every football game, go to Young Life, boast a State Champion football team, attend assemblies during second period, have more than one measly pep rally, and..." (and the list goes on.) "Boy, high school is so much better than junior high, I can't believe it!," you relate with sincerity. (Just never admit that you're the one who couldn't believe how much better junior high was than elementary school.) But let's face it, along with being in tenth grade, which is about the best to come along so far, people gained a new kind of confidence. It took six long years to climb to the top in elementary, three to reach the top in junior high, but even though you're on the bottom of the totem pole in high school - Who cares? It still feels great! Although school is still a kind of prison to some, it's also a miniature version of the outside world, and with 1982 students, it's a real challenge. And with traditions like Lake Highland's, it is also a real opportunity. No one was disappointed in the seven hundred Lake Highland's sophomores during 1981-82, because they proved to be an outstanding group. Joining in all aspects of the school and displaying a lot of pride, setting records and having fun, recognizing individuality , and respecting their classmates' talents, the sophomores made the class of 1984 look absolutely fantastic, wonderful and great!!!

Sophies Too
Seniors can't take all of the credit for having spirit. During Homecoming Week and all year long, sophomores like Chris Merlick and Robert Steele joined in the Wildcat frenzy that eventually brought state championships to LH in several areas.

Fashionable Feet

Thousands of pairs of shoes stalked the LH halls daily in 1982. A wide variety of colors, textures, materials, and sizes were visible, changing both with style and season. Shoes were definately an "in" accessory in 1982.

a lot and were saved the trouble of sending off for catalogues. "I enjoyed College Night because it gave me a chance to learn about the eastern schools I'm interested in," stated Kevin Cabaniss, a senior. In a school like Lake Highlands where many students are college bound, it is important for the students to have access to a wide variety and selection of colleges, so that each one may choose a college suited to his tastes. College Night helped prepare students for one of the biggest decisions they would make.

'andalism

ındals struck the LH library on Tuesday 16, entering through a window. ɔparently, vandalism was the sole motive, for nothing was stolen, though ɛ typewriters, a globe, and a chair were damaged, and circulation cards were scattered everywhere. Various classes throughout the day volunteered to help the librarians clean up the mess. Policemen scoured the area and took fingerprints, but the vandals were never apprehended.

Get Radical! Learning Too

Classrooms Were Not Always Boring

The academic situation at Lake Highlands was definately of a high quality. Not only were most of the courses challenging, but the teachers were well qualified to teach the courses they were responsible for. Throughout the year, research papers covered many unique and surprisingly interesting topics, though by May, most everyone was tired of the end-of-the-year rush. A radical improvement was made in the grades of the year, with the percentage of honor graduates higher than in past years, and the overall grade point average was higher than ever before at Lake Highlands. The spirit of LH radicality was present even in the usually drab and uninviting area of academics.

Playing With Slinkys
As part of a study on wave motion, juniors Eric Cooke and Stuart Sides record the motions of a transverse wave traveling through slinkys in Mrs. Mae Zimmerman's Physics I class. Physics classes frequently did unique and interesting experiments to illustrate principles of the theories they were studying.

Trivia
Members of the Lake Highland's Whiz Quiz team participate in a certamen against Lake Worth. They won the match with a score of 285-0. Whiz Quiz was organized at the beginning of the school year, and, overall, was an astounding success.

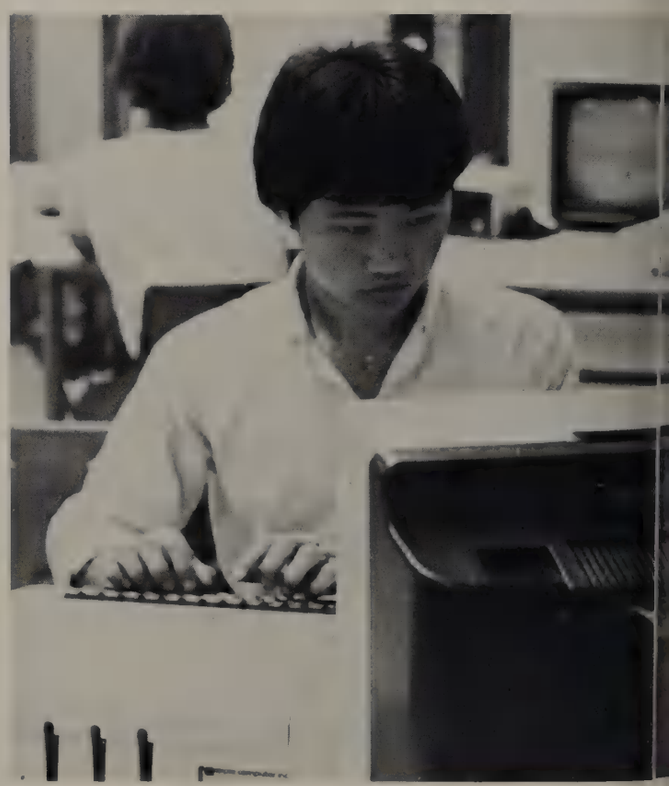
Very Unique Learning

Computer Games
Simon Bidwell, Scott Hutchins, and Mark Johnson experiment with the Apple computer in Computer Math. "Playing around" was an excellant means of learning when it came to computers.

Advanced Technology
Ramon Maza, senior, inputs a computer program into the Apple computer during his Computer Math Course.



Silk Screening
Vicki Ingram, sophomore, scrunches up her face during a silk screening experience in her third period Art class.

Messy
Kevin Turner, junior, sculpts a versatile clay bowl to be fired in his ceramice class during third period.

Unique can only describe the way some students dealt with their overloaded schedules. Somewhere there had to be time for homework. Whether at 2 A.M. or before school the day it was due, the dreaded assignments fell at different places on peoples' priority lists. Some chose to dwindle the homework load by taking fewer solid courses while others seemed to be able to handle several A.P. classes and six periods a day. A glance through the senior schedules showed many N.I.S. periods, and electives like studyhall and reading. Mr. Jerry Chandler, sophomore counselor, reports that seventy-five percent of all students took at least three years of math, even though only two years were required for graduation. Also, foreign languages experienced an increasing popularity.

From Psychology to Physics; Mythology to Calculus; and Auto Ahop to Aerobic Dancing, LHHS offered a variety of appealing courses that helped prepare students for college or work.

"When will I ever use this information outside of school?" was a question most teachers frequently heard. Except, perhaps, those teachers whose classrooms participated in interesting activities that diversified the regular English-Math routine. For instance, Mrs. Cates and her AP European History class visited the Renaissance Fair near Conroe one weekend, encountered Tolstoy's War and Peace at the Dallas Theater Center, and sampled delicacies at the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church's Food Festival with Dr. Buchanan and her Russian History class. Mary Taylor, senior, commented, "We also had a fun Christmas party at Ma's house, and ate foods from different countries."

In Mrs. Zimmerman's Physical Science class, seniors Lorna Betts and Carol Skrabanek, and junior Kara Tabor agreed, "The Lab where we blew bubbles was the most fun, and watching Julius Sumner Miller on T.V. was hilarious!" Their class also installed a solar energy collector panel on the roof and recorded the temperature change in one day.

Most biology students know their blood type from participation in blood typing labs. Mr. Winstead's Anatomy and Physiology dissected cats to the horror of a few. "We had a lot of cat jokes this year," recalled junior Jeff Buchanan, "but it really wasn't that bad."

Foreign languages were also popular with students, as French student Laura Garnett, a junior, commented, "My favorite activity of the year was eating pizza after the National French Exam." Latin classes visited the Greek Food Festival. Spanish student Scott Gardner, sophomore, stated, "Mrs. Omlor's doing some really neat things in the Superlearning program which teaches languages faster than regular methods."

In the English department, Mrs. Branner's Honors English II class visited the Shakespeare program at the Skyview planetarium, and was visited by two authors after their essay unit. Speakers from Suicide Prevention, Apartment Selector, and an insurance company, among others, provided Mrs. Bigg's Senior Practicals English class with interesting discussions. They also toured Richland and kept monthly budgets to prepare for life after graduation.

A new experience in the field of mathematics was Computer Math, taught by Mrs. Sallie Loop. "I think that a strong knowledge of computers will be valuable in my career because they'll be so important in the future," predicted senior Scott Fiddler.

There were truly a number of fun assignments students participated in this year. Hopefully, these Unique Learning Experiences can be used for a lifetime.

Bedecked with remnants of shaving cream, members of Ms Cates' AP European History class stoically refuse to admit defeat, much to the dismay of their formidable foes.

It was battle of the century as the Americans took on the APEs

It started with a few words being exchanged, and before it was over it had turned into an international affair

The great and glorious APE war. This unusual event took place on the morning of Friday, April 15, at approximately 8:35 a.m. Ma Cates' APE's battled courageously in spite of the fact that Mrs. Vandament's AP Americans outnumbered the APEs two to one. Rumors circulated that the AP Americans purportedly were in possesion of a secret weapon, while the APEs only possessed outdated water pistols.

Here Comes Ma
The Baroness von Cates is still jovial even after the defeat of the APE's by the AP Americans.

The battle lines were well worn on the battlefield of Skyline Park playground. The baroness von Cates instructed her enthusiastic warriors with these words of wisdom, "Remember, nothing is worth getting suspended for!" The battle was not overly long, however the fighting was intense.

THe AP Americans soon resorted to modern techniques such as water balloons, shaving cream filled balloons, advanced water pistols, and their "secret weapon," which was in actuality a fire extinguisher. Foreign Affairs Minister for the APEs, Lisa Fleck, questioned the legitamacy of the fire extinguisher, "They violated the Geneva Conference when they used chemical warware." The AP Americans superiority in the battle was due mainly to their more extensive budget.

THe AP Americans held their position despite attempts by the APEs to stage diversionary tactics. Cunning strategy was the advantage that the APEs possessed. but the AP Americans' secret weapon and a car driven by General Cliff Stricklin proved to defeat the crafty APEs.

After the AP Americans' water balloon supply was depleted, they began using the infamous fire extinguisher with impressive results. The majority of the APEs had been forced to the woody area of the park. This retreat was brought about by the high number of casualties that they experienced. However, General Mike Kistner of the European forces said, "A battle won is a battle in which you do not admit defeat!" Chris Ave, Admiral of the American Navy, commented, The Europeans had class even in the face of their emminent and ultimate defeat."

We Are Family

All of Mr. Fountain's immediate family was in attendance at the retirement luncheon hosted by the faculty. Present were son Jay, Jay's friend Wendi Lancaster, Mrs. Jean Fountain, Mr. Fountain, and his son Jeff, who was home from California for the occasion.

Two Retirees

On Friday, May 28, Mr. Fountain presided over his last faculty meeting at Lake Highlands. One of his duties was to present a gift to Mrs. Lois Attaway, who is also retiring from Lake Highlands this year.

Dolly and Piggy

Celebrities of all kinds showed up for Mr. Fountain's retirement luncheon. Dolly Parton (Mrs. Dot Biggs) and Miss Piggy (Miss Piggy (Miss Gayla Wilson) showed up to wish Mr. Fountain well and to deliver telegrams from well-known people.

Receptions and luncheons highlight Fountain's last days at LH

Mr. Fountain's retirement caused the faculty and students to rally to his support, and to pay him tribute

Finishing the year in style seemed to be a tradition at Lake Highlands during the 1981-82 year. Not only in sports and academics, but also in the support and love that the students, faculty, and community showed toward principal Jimmie Fountain.

Although he experienced a trying and difficult year, his courage and loyalty to Lake Highlands was unending as was our loyalty to him. With several awards and numerous achievements at Lake Highlands over the past seven years of hard work, the year of 1981-82 was a good time for his retirement.

Publicity found its way into Mr. Fountain's life through the school board hearing over the alleged mishandling of funds, and through the announcement of his retirement. The support of the faculty, students, and community was exemplified by the presence of red and white clothing at the hearing, and also by the financial help given to the Fountain's during his six day suspension from the school.

Retirement receptions and luncheons were given by the faculty and PTA for Mr. Fountain which past and present teachers and students attended. Mr. Fountain received various honors and personal gifts congratulating him on his job well done. Among these were letters of congratulations from the mayor of Dallas, Jack Evans, Representative Jim Collins, Governor Bill Clements, and President Ronald Reagan.

Presentation

The end of the year was a time of various endings and beginnings and Mr. Fountain feld he was going out with the best."

For six years Mr. Fountain supported, encouraged and aided the students and faculty at Lake Highlands. His continuing loyalty made LH a school to be proud of and all involved at LH will always cherish the memorable times which Mr. Jimmie Fountain gave to us.

Perhaps the feelings for Mr. Fountain are best expressed in the words of Mr. John Williams, AP English teacher, when he said, "Mr. Fountain allowed me to do what I do best, to have the freedom to teach."

A True Media Center

Sharing
Seniors Robin Gormly and David Heath pour over bound copies of magazines in the library. These magazines were one of the many research sources available.

Group Project
Though some students preferred to do their work alone, juniors John Murphy, Steve Trostel, and Don Bates prove that it is just as easy when you have help from your friends. The card catalogue was useful if you knew what you wanted but not where to find it.

There was more going on in the library than research papers and book reports. A variety of equipment, including a computer, a growing paperback collection, and a video recorder were purchased and made available to students for the first time. "We've had a very busy year and the students have taken advantage of the opportunities made available," stated Thelma Gaye, librarian.

Improvements such as a wall separating the career center from the rest of the library gave career counselor, Gerry Horton, a functional area and provided a conference room for clubs and a listening center for individuals. Also included in the career center were a copy machine, computer printouts about colleges and occupations, a movie screen, tape recorders and record players, guides to taking the PSAT, ACT, and other tests, and college catalogues.

In March, the audio-visual equipment was made available to students. All video cassetes were organized under the Dewey decimal system and cards saying "See AV file" were inserted in the regular card catalogue. Librarians enthusiastically taught students about the changes and trained twelve boys to use a new camera and portable recorder so drama, speech, and other classes could film themselves and check their progress. Lake Highlands was also the only school in the RISD that could show a video tape in unison throughout the school.

Free reading was also encouraged and author Richard Peck visited and worked with reading classes. Ever popular magazines and modern fiction were favorites while everyone dreaded the overdue book fine list that came out before exams. A visit to the library was a little reminder of how close we were getting to a computer age and how much an organized and up-dated library could help.

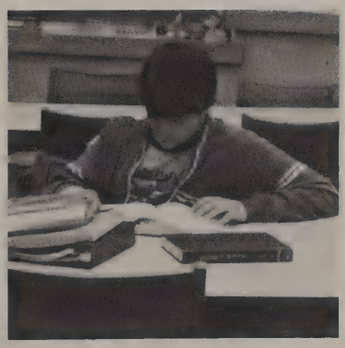
Where Is That Book?
The exellent research center was put to good use by students who had papers to write. Senior Doug Teter is trying to find a reference book to help him with his assignment.

Working Away
The library was a great place to do homework with its many reference books and quiet atmosphere. One student takes advantage of this and gets extra help from senior Stacie Sims.

Planning Ahead
A librarian assists junior Al Sauerman in researching college information. The library possessed many catalogues and brochures which many students found helpful.

Quiet Please!
Sophomore Paul Simmang uses the quiet of the library to get his assignments and studying done. Many students came into the library during study halls to do reports and research papers.



Quest
Mark Lanoux, senior, feverishly takes notes for his research paper. Each student averaged several packets of notecards per term paper.

Scanners
Before checking out a book, Yoichi Takamatsu skims the book for useful material pertinent to the topic which his term paper is based on.

Help! Help!
As the date for the term paper to be turned in approaches, many students searched the card catalogue for additional sources. Rhonda Young and Lisa Randall are among these.

The dreaded term paper; everyone has to do one sooner or later

For most students it is a last minute project, with a bottle of No Doz, lots of coffee, and a sleepless night or two

The dreaded term paper! Every student at Lake Highlands was forced to do one, if not several during their years in high school. "What should the subject be?" was the first and most important question that students asked themselves, and there was a variety of answers ranging from drug abuse to communism.

Libraries became the weekly hangout, and students called in sick at work at the last minute so so that they could finish "The Paper" on time. Late night typing class was being informally held at the houses of students, and many were caught with bottles of "No-Doze" near their stacks of books and footnotes. With the radio and T.V. turned up as loudly as possible, each student rushed to complete the dreaded paper. Among the top ten frustrations were the mistakes that could not be covered with liquid paper or erased, the footnotes at the bottom of the page, and realizing that your number of sources did not meet the required minimum set by the teacher.

Bags beneath eyes and sloppy dress were sure signs that one had stayed up all night researching. Sleeping in class was also a familiar sight and even though it was not allowed in class, students seemed not to be able to help themselves.

"Ialways think better at the last minute," was the top excuse for putting the paper off until the night before it was due. But even the students who worked for weeks were up the night before D-Day trying to perfect the paper.

Ponderous Tome
The topics of term papers were often original and diverse. Radhika Thammavaran reads a chemistry book to help her define terms in her paper.

Perfection was the name of the game and the teachers expected nothing less. Suddenly tasks which seemed easy became terribly hard, such as typing more than three words at a time without a mistake. When that day finally came and "The Paper" was finished, it was as if the weight of the world had been lifted from your shoulders. A full night's sleep was a dream come true, but not until the paper was handed back with that inevitable grade on it could life be enjoyed to the fullest. The grade would finally come, and once again, it was your life you worried about, instead of the life of your "Paper." Term papers were not favorites on anyone's list.

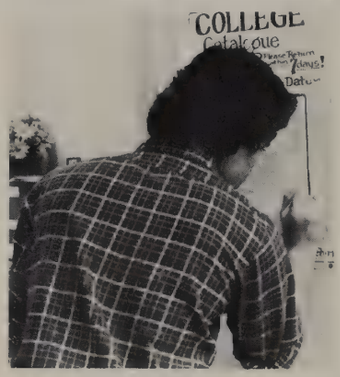
Caring LH Counselors



College Hunting
In the counselors' office college catalogues were available to be checked out. Many students who wanted to find out more about college used this information. Robert Taaffe is putting his name on the list to borrow one of the catalogues.

Just Browsing
Thumbing through the various college catalogues and course information guides, senior Tol Gardner chooses one such guide to provide her with information about her college choice.

The Waiting Room
Because the counselors were so busy, students often had to wait to see them. Sofas and chairs were provided to relax in so junior Jay Bullock takes the opportunity to rest from the daily hassle of school.

Filing Cabinet Woes
Searching through the piles of schedules, the junior counselor Jerry McVay finds the one she was looking for. The counselors coped with last minute schedule changes, incoming students, and other student crises.

Telephone Hour
Placing a potentially important telephone call, senior counselor Frances Davenport studies the piles of scholarship information on her desk. Many seniors needed recommendations and other scholarship information.

One group of caring individuals that Lake Highlands was proud to have was the counselors. Everyday these individuals worked to make life a little better or less complicated for the students, which was often a very tedious and exhausting task.

Some of the counselors many jobs included: assisting students in personal problems, registering and scheduling students with future careers and goals to best benefit them.

Sophmore counselor Jerry Chandler commented that, 'In counseling we help students work out solutions for their personal, social educational, and vocational problems. A major factor in accomplishing this is hilping students understand their strengths, weaknesses, and opprtunities.."

The counselors have a complicated but rewarding job and enjoy their work. Mrs. McVay stated that her job is very interesting and she enjoys seeing students who are happy and successful years later and she really values their friendships.

Along the same lines Mrs. Sarah Publicovver enjoys moving up with her class as she has been able to do. She has been with this years juniors for five years and looks forward to having them as seniors.

The counselors stated that each year the emphasis students have is different from sophmores concerned about hetting credits and scheduling to seniors concerned about planning ahead and testing. It was nice to know toan no matter how busy they were somehow a person could be worked in and helped.

Lake Highalnds was lucky to have had such a fine staff of counselors which helped make a successful year run a little more smoothly.

Keeping Records
Sophomore counselor Jerry Chandler had to keep track of at least one sixth of the Lake Highlands student body. He was also in charge of acquiring the sophomore records from the two junior high schools.

Physical Encouragemen

Preparation
Members of Mrs. Katha Black's physical education class prepare for the 12 minute walk-run, an event in which all students participated.

Dribble
Driving the ball toward the basket, senior David Dushman practices basketball during a practice in P.E.

"Let's get physical!" was the name of the game for many Lake Highlands students during the 1981-82 school year. It seemed that everyone was trying to get into good physical condition.

At LH, team sports were one way a person could "get physical," but there was also the required physical education classes for those who did not play a sport.

All through the year, ther was something for everyone in the way of sports. If track, soccer, volleyball, basketball.or football was the sport one excelled in, then there were many opportunities for participation. However, if one wished for less physical contact, then individual sports such as gymnastics, cross country, dance classes, tennis, and golf were available.

Although each sport was different, each required long, hard hours of training. Running, lifting weights. and learning various strategies were all training procedures which prepared one to "get physical."

In addition to the sport aspect of getting physical, there was also the cheerleaders, Highlandettes, and marching band, who definately had to be fit to perform at fifteen football games.

The P.E. department offerred courses in tennis, swimming, badminton, dance,water safety, and many other sports. Although these were required for students to graduate, many found it a good way to keep in shape during the school year.

Students were not the only ones exercising. The teachers and other faculty members were also "getting physical." Many teachers used the time before school to walk, while others participated in aerobic classes after school. No matter if you were a teacher, "Super Jock," or "Joe Nerd," there was a variety of ways to "Get Physical."

Shaping Up
Practicing aerobic dancing in her physical education class is Dierdre Phillips, sophomore. Aerobics was very popular, not only in PE classes, but also with adults in the community.

Assembly at the end of the year.

Homework, experiments, field trips, and lectures were all a part of the mental scene at Lake Highlands and all the students took part in it.

If one was involved in the "killer" A.P. (advanced placement) classes, then studying became a daily ritual and one religiously took an endless stack of books home. Although A.P. was only offered to seniors, the juniors and sophomores had their share of difficult classes.

For juniors, the year's grades were very important because they paved the way for the final selection of Valedictorian and Saluteatorian.

Many students began the year with high averages but then later slacked off, due to other school activities or just spring fever. However, the number of National Merit Finalists was much higher than those of previous years.

Although books, desks, chalkboards, and homework were the most frequent utensils used in learning, many classes took a variety of field trips to widen their perspective on the subjects which were being taught. While studying Don Quixote, two of Mrs. Montgomery's classes went to El Centro college to view a bilingual production of the classic novel, and forty biology students went to the Aerobics center to broaden their study of the human body.

However, classes were not the only places where students were given an opportunity to learn. Many new academic clubs were organized such as Whiz Quiz, Macro, and Chess. While the work programs were also a popular way students to learn and recieve experience at the same time.

Although reading, writing and arithmetic will always be the basis for education, many students proved that learning was more than just sitting in the classroom. Providing a variety of learning experiences helped many Lake Highlands students broaden the horizens in the field of education.

Get Radical! LH - Full of Life

The Life of a Student: Exiting & Fun

The life of the students during 1981-82 was definately radical. With the numerous social events throughout the year such as plays and musicals, dances of all types and styles, Baccalaureate, and Graduation, there was definately not a lack of things to do. Noticed most prominently at dances, the music of the year was a radical combination of punk, top forty, disco, and, of course, rock. Anoverabundance of talent was evident in the various productions during the year, such as Jabberwock, The Sound of Music, Spring Show, and the traditional Senior Show. A radical combination of activities, including the State Championship football game, kept students occupied all through the year.

It wasn't an ordinary game and the teams were definately not average. The Wildcat winners were no "Plain-o" Cats!

The day was October 9, 1981 and little did anyone know that on that day history would be made. You came to school that morning, and, driving into the parking lot, you got chill bumps all over and felt an awesome pride in a school where our Wildcats were number one.

Masses of red and white t-shirts, shoe polished cars, spirit buttons, and smiles were shown by every person who was privileged to be a part of Lake Highlands.

"BEAT PLANO" echoed through the gym as the pep rally began. The cheerleaders led chants with enthusiasm, but everyone there noticed something different. There was something else in the gym ... the difference was SPIRIT! Everyone had it, nobody had to work at it, it just came naturally.

The 3:30 bell rang, school was over but everyone who was anyone would be back that night for the 13-AAAA "Super Bowl". Even though som people came at 6:00 they still had t stand in line to get a good seat.

At 7:30, as the team came runnin on the field the yells and cheers c the L.H. Wildcats overpowered th squeals and yelps of the Plano ki tens. By halftime the 10-0 score wa only one sign of who the better cat were, and by the end of the gam there was no doubt in anyone's min (not even the fans from Plano).

"5,4,3,2,1,..." came from the sold- ou crowd, as the clock showed no tim remaining. Everyone was on th field; you hugged people that you ha never seen before, you cried wit people that you had never met, ar when the band played "Our Song you somehow felt a bond of unity ar pride in a school which was on it way to the top, and nobody - not eve Plano - was going to be able to sto them.

'Sky's the Limit' for Homecoming Dance

Traditions changed somewhat, but the fun remained the same during the annual homecoming week

The Sky's the Limit", the theme for Homecoming 1981 seemed to fit the occasion since the sky was all that could have stopped the L.H. football team and students from enjoying this year's Homecoming. It began on Wednesday, October 21 with "Backwards Day." Most students wore their shirts backwards and many turned their overalls around. Some students even managed to put their jeans on backwards.

Thursday was "Fantasy Day" and students let their imaginations run wild. John Abbott came as Coach Persinger, Mike Hachtman came as an Oscar Meyer Weiner, and Steve Peck was dressed as Mr. Pearce.

Friday was the traditional 'Red and White day,"and most students and faculty dressed in red school, gave the football players and white.

The pep rally. which was after school. gave the football players enough spirit to run over Richardson 38-0. Pre-game activities were highlighted by the crowning of the Homecoming Court. Tanya Zidermanis was named Sophomore Duchess, Christy Jeffers was elected Junior Princess, and Carol Skrabanek was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Unlike in past years, the Homecoming dance was held on Saturday night instead of Friday night after the game.

Another change was that the dance was held in the Student Center instead of the cafeteria. Most students liked this much better. L.H. proved that "the sky's the limit" by making Homecoming '81 a success.

Fantasy?
Posing as Mr. Pearce, senior Steve Peck issues a detention to an imaginary student. His was one of the more original costumes on Fantasy Day.

Girl From New York City

One of the many dances highlighting the Varsity Revue performance was Laura Wilson, senior doing an interpretive dance to the popular song "Boy From New York City"

Homecoming Night Fever

Dancing was a major part of the 1981-82 production of Varsity Revue. Senior Daphney Meeks performed a jazz dance to the song "Stars on 45," a medley of the most famous of the Beatles' songs.

From Punk to Pop, Talent Pervaded VR

October twenty-second and twenty-fourth were the dates for the 1981 Varsity Revue. As the curtain rose and a voice from above was heard yelling stage directions, the audience began to wonder if something had gone wrong. Is the act not ready? Well, they were merely seeing the theme for V.R., "Dress Rehearsal", and it proved to be a big success.

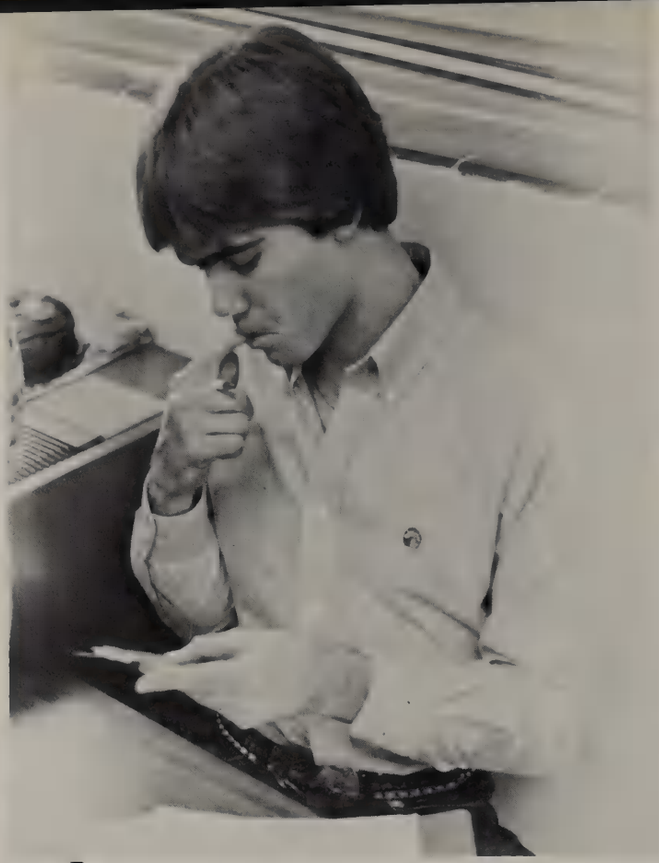
Acts ranged from a broom corps routine by Diane Anderson and Mike Boner to dances by Laura Wilson, the Varsity Cheerleaders, and Highlandette officers, to Killer Timmy and the Bobtones, a punk group. There were also "commercials" between acts featuring Captain Tardy, the I'm a Preppy group, and the American Distress.

The Varsity Revue is put on every year by the band during Homecoming week. Students take part in the show that many felt topped off the week in a unique way, The band did an excellent job this year, and the audience enjoyed all of the performances.

Marybeth Bartolomeo commented, "So many people participated and worked hard to make Varsity Revue the best our school has ever seen." Her opinion seemed to be shared by many.

Others who participated were: the Rifle and Flag Corps, twirler Leslie Wilson, dancers Daphney Meeks, Rosemary Sullivan, and T.J. Stone, and singers Wendy Brown, Janell King, Eli Rodriquez, and Robin King. As the Varsity Revue concluded, the band played the school song, a dramatic ending to a great show enjoyed by many.

Varsity Revue, hosted by the Band, definately did not appear to be a "Dress Rehearsal" as its 1982 theme stated

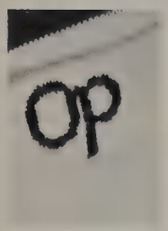


Chaps
John Ward, sophomore, sports a Chaps oxford cloth shirt. He is licking his finger after sampling a birthday cake. Chaps was a popular label, suitable for any occasion.

The Real Thing
Spanish teacher Mrs. Spurlock makes a mockery of the popular Izod brand by displaying a stick-on counterfeit of the original on her sweater. The sticker was given to her by one of her students.

Popularity Plus
Junior Doug Bond sports another popular shirt symbol, the polo. The cost of a Polo shirt was higher than most others, but its wearer was assured of quality.

The preppy look was the most 'in' fashion trend, and the animals were on top of the list



It all started with the alligator, and then came the polo horse, but soon a polyester menagerie has evolved

Alligators, men on horses, armadillos, dragons, and any other brand name or designer emblem appeared on the high-fashion apparel of Lake Highlands students.

The "gators", better known as Izods, were not only worn on shirts, but were available on any piece of the "preppy" uniform. They appeared on stationary, were sewn on skirts, jeans, jackets, and socks; they were painted on pencils, and alligator stickers made an Izod out of any old rag you had at home.

On the other hand, Polos, created by Ralph Lauren, were the "in" fashion, and available in a variety of styles and colors. Sports shirts weremost frequent, but long sleeve shirts, sweaters, socks, and cologne made their appearance on campus. "I think polos are comfortable and look nice," commented Lisa Burgen, "and that's why they're in style." Some wore them for comfort, some for style, and some just to go along with the crowd, but even though Izods and Polos were both worn by many, one dared not clash by combining the two.

Change of Pace
Animals weren't the only things found ornamenting shirts. Chris Pike wears a shirt bearing the popular Adidas insignia.

While LaCoste and Ralph Lauren made big bucks, Sanger-Harris, Joske's, Sear's, J.C. Penney's and more joined the bandwagon. Western fashion made its debut with the armadillo appearing on sports shirts and fire-breathing dragons popped out of the medevial age.

Penney's fox was an inexpensive way to be in style. With the coming of spring, Penney's designed a look alike Polo with a man on a horse, but the crowd stuck with the "oldie but goodie" Ralph Lauren.

With the changing of seasons came the changing of fashion, stores stocked new colors of shirts and, of course, emblems. Out went brown, burgandy, navy, and red, and in came yellow, purple, green, pink, and light blue, available in each color.

Style was the name of the game, and students at Lake Highlands knew how to play it very well. Maybe the reasons for whering these polyester animals were for prestige, popularity, or just for personal preference, but whatever the reason, students made designers and style a part of their everyday lives.

Pep Rallies Evolve To State of Frenzy

Cheerleaders bounded into the air off of mini-tramps, Bell Boys flew through with the flag, mascot Tommy Spillman slipped and slid from section to section with the spirit stick, and Highlandettes marched proudly into the gym with the band blaring unforgettable marches in the background. All goals seemed attainable suddenly. Everyone seemed to belong together, even those who hadn't caught on to King Fifer's latest cheer, fighting for the one big cause.

Sure, the Yates rally was complete balloons, mini-cams, poster-plastered walls, Mayor Jack Evans, and mass hysteria. Most agree, however, that at the Plano pep rally, there was just that special feeling, and everyone stood up, which is a real indication of the spirit tidal wave's effect.

The frenzy seemed to originate in the first few rows of the senior section and spread rapidly. Part of the spirit flowed over from the night before when King Fifer had stirred up students with unofficial "flashlight" peprallies. Perhaps the most emotional moment was the school song at the end as cheerleaders and athletes gathered in a circle around the bell boys and flag to salute the school.

During the playoffs, impromptu pep rallies broke out anywhere in the school. More than once there were pep rallies on the patios, with students in classes competing with each other to see who could yell the loudest. Cheerleaders brought lunching students to their feet in the cafeteria in order to give a show of support for the Wildcat football team. Spirit peaked during 1981-82, and when speaking of pep rallies, remember the definate emphasis on PEP!

It started slow at the beginning of the year, but by the time the playoffs rolled around, things were jumping

Musical Sounds
Part of the huge cast, Shannon Greer, senior, and Kim Hardaway, senior, were just as important to the overall musical as any of the other roles. The nuns sang in many parts of the musical, adding to the quality of the whole production.

Peddler
Todd Bistany, senior, portrays the role of Doc Marlowe in Jabberwock. The doctor attempts to sell patent medecine to the townfolk.

Doe, a Deer
Maria, played by Wendy Brown in The Sound of Music, teaches the VonTrapp children to sing. As their governess, she taught the children to play and have fun.

Singing Nuns
Nuns Donya Duggleby, Kari Adams, Janell Kir and Luch Nichols ask, "How do you solve problem like Maria?" In the performance of T Sound of Music, Maria was always dol something contradictory to the nuns' strict rule

Laughter and Tears Highlight Dramatics

The Baron and Maria, Max and Elsa, and Tevya all became well known names on the LH stage this year

Some people wonder why we do it - stay after school until 10:00 for months and things like that - but it's really fun...and habit-forming!" hat is how senior Mike Hachtman xplained the magnetism of being in ne plays and musical productions taged at Lake Highlands. The drama epartment had an ambitious and ery successful year.

The drama department began the ear with "Jabberwock," a comedy taged in the twenties, featuring Billy Patterson in the lead role of Jamie Thurber. "It was the best opportunity Mrs. Poynter's given me, and I really enjoyed it," commented Billy.

ust Acting
hile rehearsing their parts, seniors Jason abiano and Kerry Kirschbraun display the notional acting required for the play. Jabberock was an extremely popular production.

Next, Mrs. Poynter's dramatists and technicians joined with the choir to produce "The Sound of Music." When doing this musical, most schools cut characters, music, and plot, but the abundance of talent at Lake Highlands allowed them to perform the full-scale version. Todd Savell portrayed Captain VonTrapp, Wendy Brown was Maria, Mike Hachtman played Max, Johnna Ogden was Elsa Schraeder, Staci Garner was Leisl, and Janell King was the Mother Abyss. It was a big undertaking, but as the curtain went up on the nights of January 28,29,and 30, the anticipation in the crowded auditorium the audience was well-satisfied with an exiting and polished performance. Staci Garner commented about the musical, "I loved it! It was always a challenge and hard work but we were rewarded!" Sophomore Bobby Romano agreed, "It was fun, and you made a lot of friends."

The final performance of the year for the theatre department was the University Interscholastic League one-act play competition, for which they performed Tevya and His Daughters. The play was actually taken from two acts of Fiddler on the Roof, cut down and combined to meet the 40 minute UIL time limit. Done with only seven major characters, the play was judged on acting skills rather than being a general crowd-pleaser. Sophomore Dudley Callison said it was a new and exciting experience.

Jabberwock
Senior Todd Savell practices his lines for the production of Jabberwock. Numerous rehearsals paid off in producing a play of excellant quality.

Favorites Dance is at Centre Plaza

Ben Bates, Laura Garnett

Patti Jackson, Scott Dunklin

Gatewood and Skrabanek were the big winners, but there were plenty of other honors passed around

School Spirit
Todd Tschantz and Cathy Smith, seniors, show off their matching maroon and white tuxes at Favorites, complete with "Aggie" baseball caps to proclaim their collegiate intensions.

Although the dance floor was crowded and the ballroom was hot, the 1981-82 Favorites Dance was a memorable occasion for almost 800 Lake Highland's students. The Student Senate sponsored the dance and a football quiz to help promote the formal occasion. The quiz was made up of difficult questions and winner-Scott Johnson won a cheauffered limosine, free tickets, and use of $50 to celebrate the annual event.

Scott's date, Sondra Smith, said of the limosine ride, "It was great! That was the strangest feeling--driving up to the dance in a limo!"

After an hour of dancing, the winners of the various categories were announced. Nominees waited with nervous anticipation as THE moment quickly approached. Students gathered around and watched their favorite nominee as the names were called.

Evan Gatewood and Carc Skrabanek were announced Mr. an Miss LHHS of 1982. Senior girl an boy favorites were Laurie Riley an Steve Hurst. Most Likely to Succee went to Tracy Higgins and Kevi Cabaniss.

Everyone had a great time as years past, and the annual Favorit Dance proved to be a stron "favorite" with the students at Lal Highlands.

Texas Take-Off gives theme to Spring Show

Highlandettes flew high as they sang and danced their way through their annual spring show

Sit back, kick off your boots, and enjoy your Texas Take-Off exclaimed Head Stewardess Rhonda Mossman. Exactly what was a Texas Take-Off? It was the theme for the 1982 Highlandette Spring Show. The Emcees Todd Savell and Billy Patterson took the audience on an airplane trip from the LH airport aboard Air Texas.

The Highlandettes performed dances and several skits with themes representing several areas in Texas. The hard working girls started putting the show together during the basketball season. Since the Highlandettes had just completed the football season, and practices for Spring Show lasted late each night during the final two weeks of rehearsals, there was not much time for rest. But, as junior Donese Davenport stated, "It was hard work but in the end it was worth it!"

For the first time, the cast of the Highlandette Spring Show included a group of seven male students who added a little variety to several of the acts, as they danced and sang. When asked how he liked being in the Spring Show, senior Doug Cobb replied, "I really enjoyed Spring Show because I got to meet a lot of new girls, and I was honored to be one of the seven guys in the show. It was a blast!"

The first number after take-off was "Hello Texas" performed by Nancy Lyons' group; then the action moved to Galveston for a dance to "Surfin' USA", choreographed by Jackie Stallings. Other stops included Mickey Gilley's and "Big D Dallas, plus "Don't It Make You Wanna Dance" by Bev Turner's group and a Dallas Cowboy Cheerleader number led by First Lieutenant Jennifer Vogel.

Comedy for the evening was a junior skit called Texas Trivia, and a Richard Simmons exercise class, in which an unsuspecting member of the audience was brought on stage to take part in the exercises.

The finale for this enjoyable trip was the introduction of each member of the 1981-82 line followed by the Highlandettes final high-kick performance of the year.

Listening to the applause of the enthusiastic audience, the Highlandettes were certainly convinced that LH was proud of the 1981-82 Highlandettes.

Emcees Billy Patterson and Todd Savell, seniors, earn their wings by piloting the "Texas Take-Off" to an extraordinarily spectacular landing in the Lake Highland's auditorium.

Experimenting
Kevin Williams demonstrates the scientific principle of angular momentum, only one of the many interesting and enlightening experiments conducted in Advanced Placement Physics.

Good Shot
Sharon Harmon displays her athletic talent with an individual effort, while scoring two points. Although teamwork is important, those individual, one-man efforts also save many needed points.

Getting Radical
King Fifer, who won the award for spirit, was a student who made a lasting impression on Lake Highlands. He coined the phrase that became the theme of both the year and the yearbook.

There are always those individuals who stand out in the crowd

When you put any large number of people together, there are always those who will come to the front

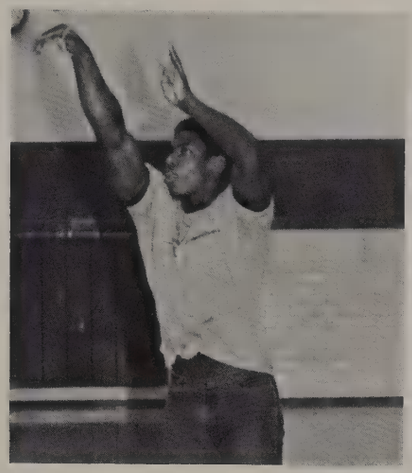
Getting radical! Many students at Lake Highlands were, and it showed. Whether it was evident in clothes, personality, spirit, or even in the activities in which they were involved, going along with the crowd was not the "in" thing during the 1981-82 school year.

During the State Championship football season, a very popular flag hangar named King Fifer started the unforgetable spirit which was to continue throughout the year. Senior Janell King commented, "If he had not become "Radical" about the football team and the spirit in the school, Lake Highlands might not have had the terrific spirit we did."

But pep rallies were not the only place one could display individuality. Sharon Harmon, for example, was one of the few girl athletes who participated in a wide variety of sports. She was not only a member of the volleyball team, but also of the girl's varsity basketball team, and the soccer team.

The classroom was frequently where students chose to be different, and those who took A.P. courses set themselves apart. Being black and in all advanced placement classes really made senior Kevin Williams stand out in the crowd.

True individuality was senior Tom Lynch's best subject, and it was evident in his style of dress and personality. Although many considered him "different," Tom Lynch certainly added a bit of spice to the atmosphere of Lake Highlands.



All Around Athlete
Eric Whitted, a member of the football team, tries his hand at basketball as he shoots the hoop during athletics where everyone became aquainted with Eric's very positive individuality.

Seniors, however, were not the only "radical" individuals, as many juniors also had their own way of doing things. Eric Whitted, one of the few juniors on the State Championship football team, and Crystal Davis, one of the few junior A.P. students, were prime examples.

Although dress and personality were ways of expressing one's individuality, material possessions such as Melanie Hall's old MG replica were also unique.

The impressions made by these "radical" individuals made on Lake Highlands will be evident in the history of future classes.

Song and dance, skits, and downright zanyness highlight senior show

Ask Me Another
In a skit parodiing game shows, Lori McKee and Cliff Stricklin attempt to answer the questions posed by the quizmaster. This skit was put on by the student council officers.

The Senior Show, a three hour extravaganza filled with memories, inside jokes, and an array of local talent, entertained full houses on May 7 and 8. "The Magic of 82" meant different things to different people. Emcees Chris Ave, Janell King, and Todd Savell performed tricks like putting Janell in a TV and singing "Chariots of Fire."

The ingenious senior men constructed an LHHS museum complete with Laotian janitors, while senior women "wished they all could be Lh men." Seniors John Zikos, Evar Gatewood, Jeff McGehee, and Steve Hurst scored big with "Rappers De White" while another favorite was "Tastebuds."

"It demonstrated the fantastic school spirit the seniors had al year," said junior Shannon Lavender.

Several song and dance acts exhibited the talent of the class o '82. Mike Hachtman and Wendy Brown sang "Sweet Dreams," Lei Sjoberg did "Teddybjorneau Fredriksson," and Johnna Ogden performed an opera solo. Besides the senior women dancers, other dancing acts included the senior varsity cheerleaders number to "Pink Panther," Bev Turner's "The Visitor," and Daphney Meeks, T.J. Stone, and Rosemary Sullivan "On Broadway."

The Student Council officers' skit was a gameshow takeoff, "Nigh School Hi-Q" and the class officers did a parody of "The Raven."

The evening climaxed at the cast party at Ellen McJunkin's home. "The show was successful both financially and enjoyably. It was one of the best we have ever had," commented Mrs. Donna Matlock, directo of the show.

Some people had the most fun a rehearsals. "The downstairs disco made the practices more fun and time pass faster," said Donna Cummins. Alvin Rettig agreed, "Thursday night I brought a radio and we had a great time dancing on stage."

Halt!
"Stop! Who goes there?..." Todd Savell as inspector Clouseau eagerly questions emcee Janell King as to the whereabouts of his fugitive in the 1982 Senior Show.

Togetherness
Displaying a sentiment of oneness, the cast for the Senior Show The Magic of '82 joins together onstage. Many hours of hard work and many late night rehearsals went into the show.

Prom at the Dunfey
A night to remember

Out came the tuxes, out came the prom dresses, out came Backstreet; the result was just plain fun and a night to remember

Groovin'

One of the special nights that high school seniors always think about as their senior year comes to an end is the Senior Prom. For the 1981-82 seniors it was "A Very Good Year" as proclaimed on the wine bottles given as favors at the dance.

The Senior Prom was held on May 15 at the Dunfey Hotel. The location was selected by the senior class officers after comparing costs and learning that many hotels would no longer hold proms.

To pay for the prom, the seniors had sold popcorn in past years and they held a financially successful Senior Show titled "The Magic of '82." Although these money making projects helped cut down on expenses, the average of $150 and up for such things as a tux, corsage, dinner, prom pictures, hotel rooms, and limousines for male seniors and approximately $100 and up for a dress and accessories for female seniors, made it impossible for some seniors to attend.

An estimated 400 couples danced to the music of Backstreet. Favors for the prom were wine bottles with LH labels on them, and some seniors felt that the majority of people had a fun evening.

The prom was chaperoned by many faculty members. Senior Class sponsor Donna Matlock, Katha Black, Kenneth Pearce, Patricia Kitzmiller, and Pam Ellard were presented with crystal candle holders.

Senior Wendi Neal commented, "I really enjoyed prom, and the band was good. The only complaint I had was that the hotel was so hot. Other than that it was a lot of fun."

Mike Bianucci

Mark Larson

Senior Doug Cobb agreed that t was too hot, but he also had a lot f fun. He did wish, however, that te band had played more country musi.

Despite minor complaints that te temperature was too hgih and te lack of adequate music selection, te 1982 prom was not only memorab, but was sensationally enjoyable r those who attended. It was indeed n evening of senior celebration.

Surrounded
The crowd surrounding senior Tommy Hood and the smiles on the faces give an indication tat everyone was having a good time at the Senior Prom. The Prom was May 15 at the Dunfy Dai Hotel.

Baccalaureate service sets stage for graduation exercises for 690 members of 1982 senior class

Greg Abbey

Mr. Jimmie Fountain

The Lake Highlands senior wakes up only to find the house filled with relatives and gifts. Christmas? No, it's graduation time!

Traditionally, Baccalaureate services are held the Sunday before graduation. The 1982 Baccalaureate was held Sunday, May 23 in the LH auditorium. Red-robed honor graduates entered first and took places on stage behind the speaker's platform. Next, the white-robed graduates entered the auditorium and took their places in front of the stage. Senior Kevin Cabaniss delivered the scripture reading from I Timothy 4:11-16, "Do not neglect the gift of youth."

Asisstant principal Kenneth Pearce introduced the speaker, Reverend Gil Stricklin. Reverend Stricklin had previously spoken to the 1979 LH graduating class for his son Art's graduation. His second son Cliff graduated with the 1982 class. Reverend Stricklin has spoken to over 50,000 young people at almost 140 high schools. He is the chaplain for the American Businessmen's Association, and a member of the Baptist General Conference in Texas.

"Don't get too serious about life. You're not going to get out of this life alive anyway. Take time to live, laugh, and love now."

These remarks opened the theme of the 1982 Baccalaureate : time. Reverend Stricklin's humorous oration told the seniors to invest time, and live life for today, for every second counts.

"There are two things you can do during the day- smile or frown. He who says 'tomorrow' really means 'never'. Life is merely a dash between two dates on a tombstone, so live

"life for now!"

Reverend Stricklin's address was followed by the benediction from senior Jennifer Grosz, ans finally the recessional. In just two days the class of 1982 would graduate!

The Lake Highlands commencement exercises were held on May 25 at 8:00 p.m. on the SMU campus at Moody Coliseum. The invocation was given by senior Mike Hachtman who alluded to Reverend Stricklin's address by saying, "together we have strength to live, laugh, and love."

Principal Jimmie Fountain presented the honors and completed his farewell address by calling the senior class of 1982 "the best class in the history of Lake Highlands. I'm proud to go out with the best."

Joan Usry, salutatorian, gave the opening address before the commencement of the graduation exercises.

The benediction was given by senior Chip Bratten. The farewell address was given by valedictorian Tracy Higgins. The recessional to the tune of the "Grand March from Aida" played by the LH orchestra under the direction of Dr. Larry Gebhardt. After the graduation exercises, many class members celebrated the evenings festivities at the Senior All-Night Party.

The class of 1982 truly had an exciting year with State Championfootball, powerlifting, and yearbook, as well as excellant performances by the choir, band, and drama department. The Lake Highlands' class of 1982 was indeed "A very Good Year."

Waiting
Honor graduate Kevin Cabaniss waits rather impatiently for the graduation rehearsal to begin. Those who were on time were forced to sit and wait for the stragiers.

Pacing

Remember the Good Times, Forget the Bad

Get Radical!

The echoes of "Get Radical!" at that timeless moment when we realized that we were, in fact, the best in the state will fade slightly from our memories, but we will never entirely forget that ecstatic feeling. Years from now, when you think of Lake Highlands, remember the friends you had and the people of this school who cared for you, and the teachers who inspired you on to a brilliant career in that specific field, and the first day of your sophomore year when you were so scared, and the last day of your junior year when you were finally a senior, and the pink smoke bomb, and the flashlight pep rallies, and the flooded parking lot every time it rained, and the cafeteria smell, and the late night rehersals, and the segregation in the student center, and most of all, remember the good times you had in this building. RADICAL was the character of Lake Highlands this year, and you will remember it as radically different from any other year you have ever experienced.

Is up with the birds and marches along our street,

When it marches, as in the old fhyme, back, boom boom,
To its study halls, leaving our street
Empty except for the leaves that descend, to no drum,

Thank you, Todd, for being the kind of son that makes our hearts overflow with pride...

We love you, and wish you the very best that life has to offer, thanks!

Mom and Dad

The 1982 Wildcat staff was aided by many teachers and faculty members at Lake Highlands. We would like to extend our gratitude to Mrs. Jane Haltom who lent us both her time and support throughout the year, and to our faithful substitute Mrs. Fran Krigline. We also owe a special thanks to Mr. Owen Pyles, Mr. Kenneth Pearce, and Mr. Jimmie Fountain. To our loving advisor Mr. Jim Davidson, we would like to thank you for all your hard work and unpaid overtime, despite the personal circumstances that you faced during the year, and I would like to personally thank you for being such a trusting friend for the past three years.

To the Wildcat staff, I would like to say thank you, and, in spite of missed deadlines and gripe sessions, I love all of you. A special thanks goes to my editors Shannon Hill, Leah Starr, and Jay Turner for your late night work. Thank you Eric for all the pizzas and hamburgers, and to Bobby for keeping me from losing my patience for than once. It has been a great year - don't forget the stadium cleanup, Ken's Pizza, taking the typesetter to prom, throwing away Chris's books, "selling ads" during lunch, Mr. D. turning off the radio every other song, and the infamous yearbook assembly.

Julie,

You are what every parent hopes and prays for in a daughter- and much more! From banged-up knees to the flashlight pep rallies; from Latin President to MIP; From Who's Who and a class rank of "10" to Jammin in the Senior Show; from the love and friendship you shared with so many to the fond and lasting memories of the class of '82. How you ever did it all, we will NEVER, EVER, EVER, know. Above all thanks for simply being "A Very Special" you!

We Love You!
Dad, Mom, Dan, and Ken

Dear Lisa,
Congratulations on your graduation! May your fondest hopes and dreams become a reality.

Coach Joe Bob Johnson Says It All

The sign behind Head football coach Joe Bob Johnson seems to say it all about the 1981-82 school year at Lake Highlands. It was indeed a championship year for the football team, the powerlifting team, and the Wildcat yearbook, but it was also a championship year in every respect for the entire school. No other year may ever be like this one, but this year we can truly say "We Got Radical!"

COLOPHON

Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas, represented by Acie Mitchell, printed 1,450 copies of the 1982 Wildcat. All layouts were designed by the Wildcat staff. Pasteups were prepared by the Wildcat staff and sent to Taylor Publishing Company camera ready. Theme copy was written by Julia Miller. All copy and headlines were typeset on a Compuwriter IV TG by the Wildcat staff. Enlarged letters on theme pages were 36 point Helios.

One hundred percent midnight blue No. 17 was used as spot color on opening pages as well as Gold No. 17 for type. All screens were 20 percent black. The Wildcat was printed on 80 lb. offset enamel. All black and white pictures were printed on Kodak Polycontrast Rapid RCII paper with F finish. Approximately 20,000 black and white pictures were taken by staff photographers. Color pictures were printed with an Ektaflex processor and materials using a Chromega B600 enlarger by Wildcat photographers. Approximately 500 color photos were taken.

The 1982 Wildcat cover uses midnight blue Lexotone with a gold hot foil stamp. Cover and endsheet type styles consist of 16, 24, 48, and 144 point Clarendon Bold by Geotype and 36 and 60 point American Typewriter Light by Letraset. The binding was made of 100 point binders board, rounded and backed and smyth sewn, including headbands.

All body copy was set in 10 point Helios with 10 point leading, with Helios Italics for emphasis. Theme copy was set in 12 point Helios with 14 point leading. All captions were set in 8 point Helios Bold type on 8 point leading with 12 point Helios Bold headings or teasers. Enlarged letters in the Sports, Academics, and Student Life sections were 36 point Helios, with 144 point Compact Light by Geotype used on all feature pages.
